Red China's Truce Ending Comes as Surprise to U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China's order ending the two-week-old Quemoy cease-fire took official Washington by complete surprise today.

The announcement by Peiping radio turned upside down the situation which had caused Secretary of State Dulles to undertake a transpolar flight from Rome to Taipei this weekend to try to reach a better understanding with President Chiang Kai-shek on how to meet the Communist political offensive against Formosa.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said when told of the Peiping statement that the department would have no immediate comment.

Officials had not definitely figured out in two weeks what caused the Reds to call off their Quemoy shelling Oct. 5. The puzzle over cancellation of the cease-fire seemed likely to be even greater.

Dulles decided last Tuesday to accept an invitation from President Chiang to fly to the capital of Nationalist China because, associates said, he thought it vital to reach a better understanding with Chiang so that the Reds could not succeed in driving a wedge between Formosa and the United States.

The desire to break the Chinese Nationalists away from the United States was believed by Dulles to be the major objective of the Reds in carrying out their cease-fire operation.

In first announcing the cease-fire, the Reds proposed direct talks with the Formosa government.

The United States followed up by meeting Red China's demands for a halt in conveying but the Chinese Nationalists rejected the Red bid for negotiations on the grounds the cease-fire itself was some kind of trick and that no agreement with the Communists could be trusted anyway.

Nevertheless, U. S. officials said both publicly and privately that the suspension of American warship escorts for Nationalist supply vessels would be continued so long as the Communists withheld their attacks.

One of the most puzzling elements in the Red reversal today was the charge that U. S. warships had resumed conveying. This was contrary to the stated Washington position and raised the suspicion here that the Communists might have concocted this claim as an excuse to start firing again.

In any case, the key to the new references to Dulles' visit to Formosa and the charge that the Chinese Nationalists have rebuffed Red overtures for negotiations.

What this suggests is that the Communists may be trying to undermine the success of the Dulles-Chiang talks in advance by demagoguing at will.

Regardless of the Red aim, it is believed here the termination of the cease-fire will react against the Communists throughout the free world. Dulles has said any resumption of shelling the Nationalist offshore islands would bring free world condemnation of Red China.

Whatever its real purpose, Red China's declared aim with respect to the United States has been to force American abandonment of Formosa. Since they could not expect to achieve that end by negotiations—in the diplomatic talks at Warsaw, for example—the Reds may well be trying to create a situation in which the Nationalists would lose faith in the power of the United States to support them effectively.

They may feel one way to go about that would be to turn off and turn on the shelling of Quemoy at will and, in effect, to tell the Nationalists as today's announcement did that they are being punished because their own leaders in cooperation with the United States did not live up to the truce conditions which Peiping had dictated.

Politicians Swing into Higher Gear

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Eisenhower carried his election efforts toward California today while other campaigner argued about his foreign policy and its place in the political debate.

In California, the President's work is cut out for him in the face of a party split over U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland, who is running a steep uphill race for the governorship against Democrat Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the state's attorney general.

The split developed when Knowland announced his candidacy after Gov. Goodwin S. Knight already had said he would bid for re-election. Knight wound up a reluctant candidate for Knowland's Senate seat, and he said recently he may not vote for Knowland.

A stepped-up weekend tempo also found Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler virtually inviting those Democrats who disagree sharply with the party's civil rights program to get out of the Democratic party. He said they could "take political asylum" in the Republican party or a third party.

With the congressional election campaign moving into its final two weeks, Eisenhower speaks tonight in Los Angeles and Tuesday night in San Francisco in what the White House said would be a hard-hitting explanation of Republican accomplishments.

Former President Harry S. Truman and Vice President Nixon resume their campaign activities Tuesday in the East, after a week-end of rest for each.

Adlai Stevenson, twice the Democratic presidential nominee, called U. S. policy toward the Nationalist Chinese islands of Quemoy and Matsu "this miserable mess."

Speaking in Milwaukee Saturday night, he said, "We have had almost four years of grace over the last crisis of Quemoy to extricate ourselves. Instead, we have allowed Chiang Kai-shek to bring us closer to war, to imperil the prestige and the peace of the United States over little islands...which in the long run are untenable."

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles had said they thought foreign policy should not be a subject of partisan debate, though each left some loopholes and later approved Nixon's action in attacking Democratic critics.

Truman said in Washington Friday he is glad that Eisenhower now "agrees with me" that foreign affairs should not be a campaign issue.

Butler was asked about that during a television interview. He said he thinks Truman was speaking then primarily as an ex-president who thinks there should be mercy on the man in the White House.

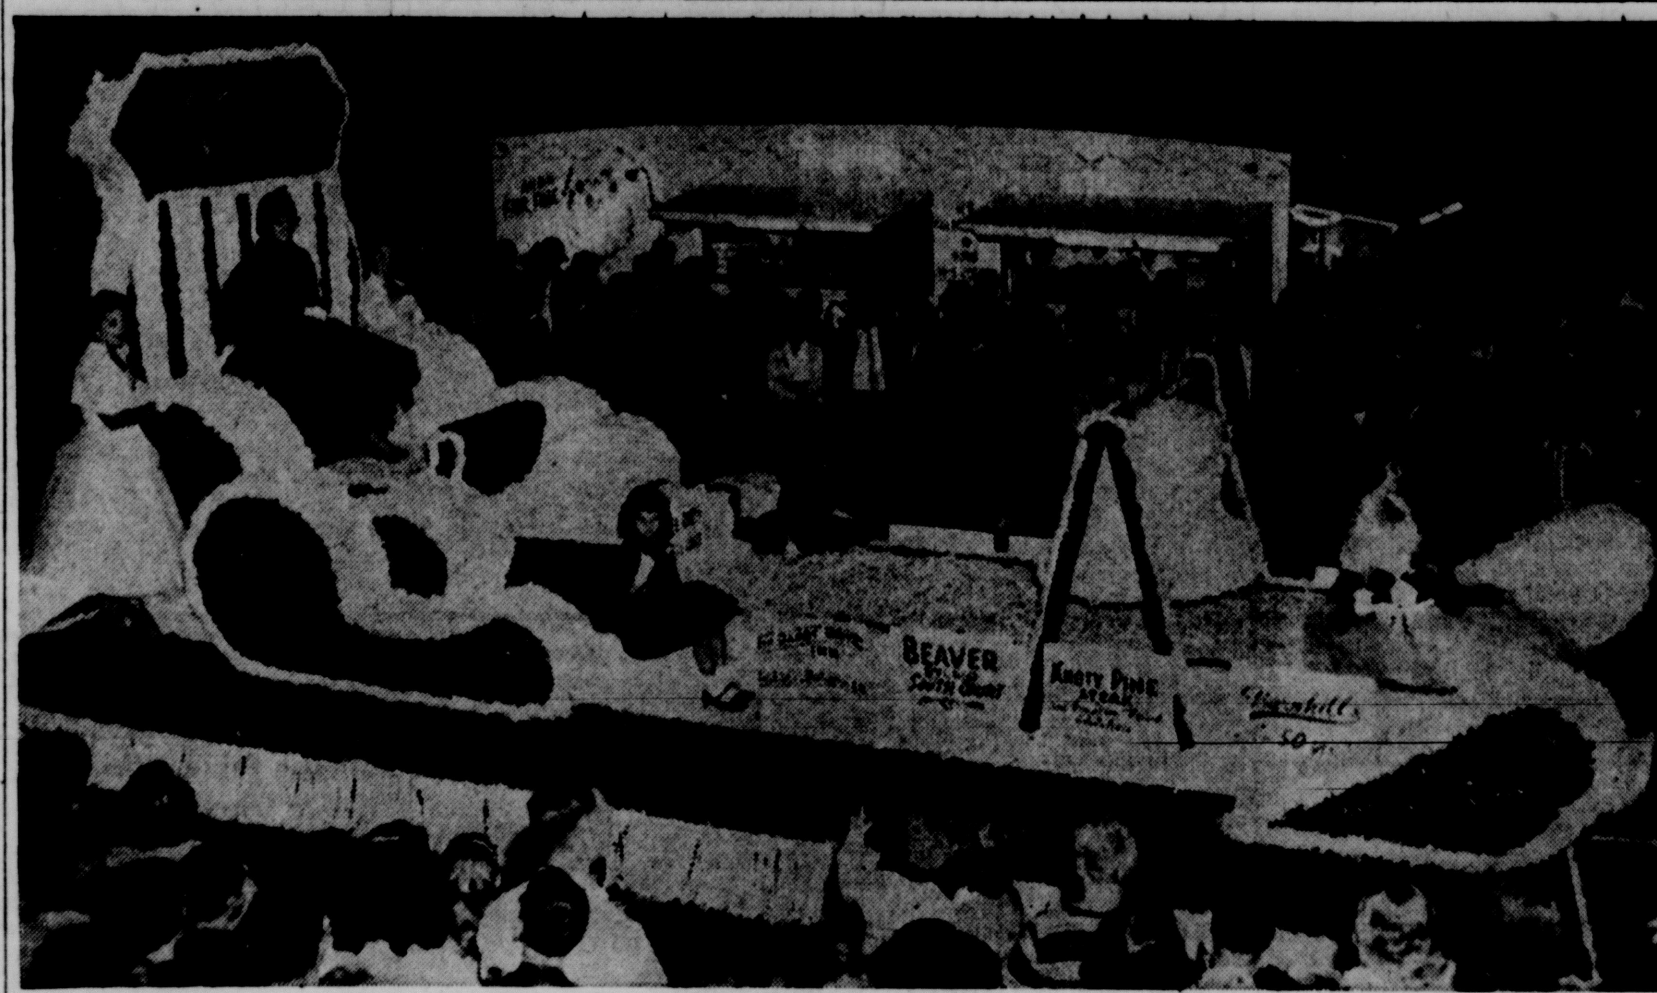

"I think the Republican party has made foreign affairs an issue by saying they are responsible for peace. Then the Democrats have the right to discuss foreign policy and areas of disagreement," he said.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn took issue with another Truman statement which described as "the Korean surrender" the armistice ending that struggle. Truman said, "A settlement was made that I could have made on the same terms three years before."

In a statement, Alcorn said that "the only possible interpretation to be made of this comment is that, if it were up to Mr. Truman and his party, Americans would still be bogged down in the casualty-ridden morass of the Korean War."

Butler, questioned about his comments on civil rights during the television interview, said they applied specifically to Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and also to Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) if he felt the same way.

U.S. Denies It Resumes Convoy Duty

TAIPEI (AP) — The Chinese Reds broke their cease-fire in Formosa Strait today, pounding Quemoy for nearly three hours and then turning their guns on Tatan islet off Amoy.

On his way here for important talks, Secretary of State Dulles said it was a tragedy the Communists had again displayed their "warlike disposition." He made the statement during a refueling stop for his jet tanker at Fairbanks, Alaska.

The Nationalists on Quemoy, amply supplied during the nearly 15-day cease-fire, returned the Red fire. The Communist artillery caught four Nationalist supply ships in the Quemoy beach area—three LSTs and one Navy transport. There was no word on whether any were hit.

The Red guns blazed at Quemoy for 2 hours and 45 minutes, then halted. Eighty minutes later, they opened up on Tatan, a 96-acre islet 2½ miles south of Amoy.

The Chinese Communists said they were suspending their cease-fire—scheduled to end next Sunday—because U. S. warships had conveyed Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy. U. S. officials denied it.

A Nationalist spokesman said the Red bombardment was not so heavy as on Aug. 23, when the offshore war began with an intense two-hour bombardment. During that initial attack 41,000 Communist rounds were fired, killing 11 civilians and wounding 18 on Quemoy and causing more than 200 military casualties.

The abrupt development raised grave new problems for U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, flying by jet tanker over the North Polar route to Formosa. His mission was to clear up misunderstandings with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek and lay the base for a more substantial cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

Red Chinese Defense Minister Peng Teh-huai gave as his reason for resuming the bombardment a charge that U. S. warships had encroached on Chinese territorial waters Sunday night in escorting Nationalist ships to Quemoy.

"Shelling must therefore be resulted as a measure of punishment," the Communist order said.

The U. S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command declared the charge was completely untrue.

Only Sunday, U. S. Navy commanders had disclosed that additional warships rushed to bolster the U. S. 7th Fleet here after the Communists started massive artillery attacks on the off-shore islands had been withdrawn.

In escorting Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy, U. S. warships have stayed three miles or more off Quemoy, the limit of territorial waters recognized by the United States.

Survey Shows Trend to Dems

New York Times Details Findings

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today a nationwide survey of political conditions by Times correspondents indicated Democratic gains in the House of Representatives in the Nov. 4 election.

The Times said the general impression, slightly more than two weeks before the election, was that the Democrats might gain from 15 to 40 House seats.

This would give them a comfortable majority in the next Congress. When the present House was at full strength, the Democrats held 235 seats and the Republicans 200.

The Times said the survey was not intended as a final forecast. It noted that many races were reported close and subject to change in the closing days.

Not included in the survey were Maine, which voted Sept. 8, and Alaska, where elections will be held Nov. 25.

The Times survey reported: Democrats were confident—and many informed Republicans privately agreed with them—that they would add to their present House majority.

Correspondents of the Times reported that the Democrats had fair to excellent chances of adding one or more House seats in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, West Virginia, Indiana, Michigan, Washington, Maryland, North Dakota, Kentucky and Ohio.

There seemed to be little chance that Vice President Nixon would get the nationwide vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration for which he has asked. Nixon has urged campaign audiences to vote for Republican House and Senate candidates who would support President Eisenhower's program.

There were few signs of the landslide that some Democrats predicted when they said their party would gain 60 to 80 House seats.

Other samplings of political opinion reinforce the impression of the Times survey that the Democratic gains in the House proportionately would fall below the expected Democratic increases in Senate seats.

Recent surveys, including those by teams of New York Times correspondents, have shown that the Democrats might gain as many as 10 or 14 Republican-held Senate seats, while no Senate seat now held by a Democrat is in serious danger.

The last Senate was divided 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans.

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP) — A fire late Sunday night destroyed the Sidney Brass and Aluminum Foundry here. Firemen said the estimated damage was not determined.

Fifteen Injured in Crashes On Highways During Weekend

Fifteen persons were injured in two auto collisions in this area yesterday. One was injured seriously.

Eight were injured at 4:45 p. m. when two cars collided on Routes 104 and 22. Seven were injured, none seriously, when two autos crashed on Routes 22 and 277 near New Holland at 12:30 p. m.

The Routes 22 and 104 accident cars were operated by Eunice L. Rollins, 33, Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., and Larry Tooney, 24, of 719 S. Court St.

Seven passengers in the Rollins car were taken to Berger Hospital for treatment. Edward Buckingham, Lockbourne Air Force Base, a passenger in Tooney's car, was slightly injured.

Passengers in the Rollins car all were from Pt. Pleasant, W. Va. The most seriously injured was Harry L. Dunlap, 59, who suffered internal injuries and head lacerations.

OTHERS injured were: Lofis Rollins, 33, lacerations and back injuries; Cinda Lou Rollins, 3, back injuries; Lofis Rollins, 6, shock; Erma Mae Rollins, 24, facial lacerations, back and internal injuries; Kathryn McDaniels, 40, facial lacerations; and Margaret McDaniels, 13, scalp lacerations and leg injuries.

According to sheriff's deputies, Tooney's car was headed east on Route 22. The Rollins auto was traveling south on Route 104.

Deputy Robert Hoover said Rollins admitted passing the stop light at the intersection. He told the deputy that he did not see the light.

Both vehicles were heavily damaged, deputies said.

The cars in the second accident were driven by Raymond Fromholt, 27, Dayton, and Daniel B. Lile, 24, Belfontaine. Fromholt suffered a lacerated lip and chest injuries. Lile was not injured.

Passengers in the Fromholt car who were injured were: Edna Ehrhart, 29, injured right leg; Rebecca Ehrhart, 8, facial abrasions and contusions; Sharon Ehrhart, 9, right ankle injury; Carolyn Fromholt, 20, lacerated and fractured nose and right leg injuries. Lile's wife, Mary, suffered lacerations and multiple abrasions.

ALL THE injured were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington C. H.

State Highway Patrolmen Gene Miller and James Cooper said Fromholt's car was headed east on Route 22. Lile's auto pulled onto the highway from Route 277, they added.

The patrolmen said Lile was cited for failure to yield the right of way. Both vehicles were extensively damaged.

Mate's Suffering Ended by Hammer

CLEVELAND (AP)—An elderly man told police he beat his wife to death today with a hammer because he couldn't stand to see her suffer.

Daniel Kiraly, 76, said he had helped his 77-year-old wife, Barbara, with the laundry. As they climbed the stairs from the basement, she slipped and fell.

Kiraly told detectives: "She lay there moaning as if the pain was horrible. 'I wanted to put her out of her misery.'"

"I got a hammer and hit her." Kiraly said he hit his wife several times. The couple, married 52 years, have four grown children.

Pumpkin Show Glitter Ends

Huge Crowds, Sights Highlight Festival

The 52nd Annual Circleville Pumpkin Show ended Saturday night with one of the largest crowds of its four-day existence. Robert Colville, treasurer of the Pumpkin Show Society, estimated the crowd at 48,000.

The festivities ended with a flurry of entertaining contests that mark the unusualness of the Circleville Pumpkin Show. The hog calling contest, rarely seen in the United States, was performed before thousands of Circleville visitors.

Many an ear heard a genuine hog call for the first time in their lives. The Pumpkin Pie Eating Contest was held in the afternoon with the two former champions, Joe Wagner and Virginia Bennett, coming on top with mouthfuls of pie.

Saturday turned into a brisk cool day after Friday afternoon's downpour and visitors wore overcoats and kept their hands in their pockets. Saturday night's Winners Parade had its usual difficult time getting through the downtown section of Circleville.

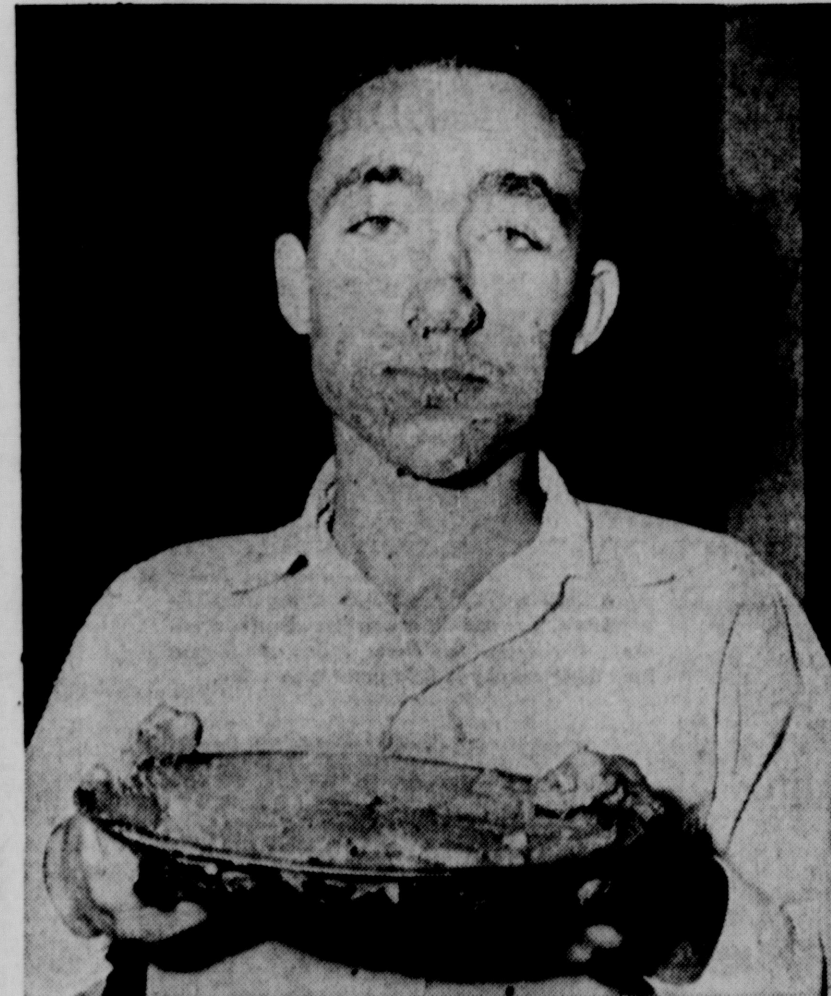

CROWDS JAMMED into the narrow streets to witness the parade winners of the past six parades. People didn't walk they were shoved and pushed along the streets.

After Nearly 7 Years, Ohio Escapee Found

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The FBI has captured an escaped Ohio murderer in Livingston, Mont., almost seven years to the day after he fled from London Prison Farm.

Harry G. Maynor, special agent in charge of the FBI in Montana, identified the fugitive as Daniel Clay Coe, London Prison Farm records, however, list Daniel Coe as an alias for Delbert Wilt, 44, of Stark County.

Wilt was convicted of the hatchet slaying of an elderly invalid, half-blind Edward B. Thomas at the Thomas farm home on Mapleton Road in Stark County in May 1935. Mrs. Thomas also was slain, but Wilt never was tried on that charge. He was convicted of first degree murder with a recommendation of mercy.

Wilt was a farmhand at the Thomas farm. The slaying for which he was convicted followed an argument over wages.

Wilt was admitted to Ohio Penitentiary in October, 1935, and later transferred to the prison farm. Records show he escaped in October, 1951.

The FBI in Montana lists Coe's escape date as October, 1951. The agent in charge said Coe had been working in the Livingston area for several months and previously had worked in Spokane, Wash. Armed FBI officers moved in only after watching his boarding house all night in the business district of the southern Montana city.

He was held for Ohio authorities on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Nautilus Skipper Scorns Idea Youth of Today Is 'Beat'

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — The skipper of the Nautilus received an honorary Doctor of Science Degree from Defiance College today and, in a speech, scorned the idea that today's youth is a "beat" generation.

Navy Cmdr. William R. Anderson, who commanded the atomic submarine on her history-making voyage under Arctic ice last August, also laid the cornerstone for the college's new $377,000 student union building.

He and J. C. Donnell II, president of the Ohio Oil Co. of Findlay were honored at the school's fall convocation. Donnell received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

A crowd estimated at 7,000 persons attended the ceremonies.

In his speech, Anderson declared he has nothing but respect for the youth of America.

"I have seen among our youth an amazing degree of alertness, enthusiasm and wholeheartedness," he said. "I have seen superior natural intelligence and I have heard older people state their con-

But, he said, today's living requires a new perspective.

"In this dynamic time, where changes take place so quickly, it is extremely easy for us to lose the picture—particularly the picture for the future," he said.

"I can only recommend," he continued, "that students think of education not in the terms of diplomas, degrees or passing marks, but in terms of preparation for the immense responsibilities ahead."

Donnell, in his talk, emphasized that the liberal arts college is fundamental to the broad knowledge, perspective and sound thinking required not only in business and industry but also vital to a sound America and preservation of democratic freedoms.

Dayton Democratic Paper Reluctantly Backs Sen. Bricker

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Dayton Daily News, generally considered to be a Democratic newspaper, today threw its support to U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker in his campaign for reelection.

The News said, however, it is backing the Ohio Republican only because he is the incumbent. Bricker is seeking his third term in the Senate.

The News' editorial said: "Neither incumbent Sen. John W. Bricker nor his Democratic opponent, Stephen M. Young, appears to be of the caliber which ought to be representing Ohio in the United States Senate."

"It is a reflection on state politics and on both parties that a better choice has not been presented. It is customary at the Daily News to suggest the retention of incumbents when other factors seem equal in a political contest. This, at least, has the virtue of continuity. On that basis, and on it alone, we see Senator Bricker as the better choice in November."

Commissioners Accept Knollwood Sewage Report

Pickaway County Commissioners October 13 accepted the Elmer S. Barrett, Associates' engineering report on the Knollwood Village sewage condition.

Barrett's report advised the Commissioners that a sanitary sewage system is needed by the Knollwood Village area to correct the unhealthy conditions now existing.

The report related that at present the Village is serviced by a majority of inadequate leaching beds and septic tanks. It stated that the system was failing to function due to extremely poor absorption qualities of the soil in that area.

Barrett reported that from an economical standpoint it would be best to construct sewers and treat the refuse at a central plant. He said he had checked and found that complete treatment of sewage was necessary before discharging the plant effluent into Hargus Creek.

THE ESTIMATED costs were easements, $1,000; manholes, $825; sewer mains, $18,500, plus treatment plants, $18,500, for a total of $43,161. A 15 per cent charge for engineering and contingencies would cost $6,474 for a grand total of $49,635.

Barrett broke down the cost per lot as being $1,079.02 over 46 lots. The cost per home owner will be added to his or her tax duplicate. A final hearing is needed before the Commissioners will begin advertising for bids on the sewer construction. The hearing date has not been set.

The Commissioners were informed that the cost of repaving the Ashville - Lockbourne Air Force Base Road would be $5,428. This road, repaving named County Road No. 28, will cover 4.59 miles.

Chief Justice Warren Gets Reuther's Nod

CHICAGO (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren would receive serious consideration from American labor if he became a candidate for president, says Walter Reuther.

Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, said in a television interview Sunday the Democrats have a dozen excellent potential candidates for president.

Among them, he said, are Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Gov. Robert Meyer of New Jersey and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

Reuther termed Vice President Nixon an extremely competent technician and politician but said he has "a streak of opportunism that bothers me as an individual."

The UAW president said there are several Republicans on whom labor might look kindly. When pressed to name them, he said, "Earl Warren would be entitled to serious consideration by the American labor movement and would get it."

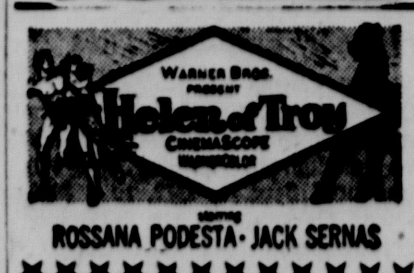

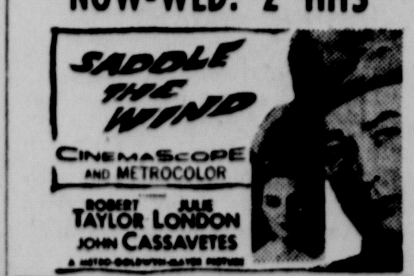

Labor does not favor either political party, Reuther said, but considers each individual candidate on his record.

But, he said, "it gets more difficult to find a Republican candidate worthy of our support."

States. However, Red China claims a 12-mile limit.

In announcing the first cease-fire, effective at midnight on Sunday, Oct. 5, the Red Chinese said a condition was that the United States halt its escorts.

The United States refused to accede specifically to the Communist demand. But after several days of cease-fire, it withdrew the escorts and said they were no longer necessary.

The Nationalists viewed the on-again artillery war as a fulfillment of their predictions that the Reds would renew action when it suited them. They have claimed the Communists were only following accepted Red tactics of "fight and talk, talk and fight."

This was in conflict with Dulles' hopes. He has been working on the line that the Communists might institute a permanent cease-fire if the Nationalists would thin their large garrison on Quemoy down to a point where it could not be considered an invasion threat to the mainland.

Nautilus Skipper Scorns Idea Youth of Today Is 'Beat'

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—The skipper of the Nautilus received an honorary Doctor of Science Degree from Defiance College today and, in a speech, scorned the idea that today's youth is a "beat" generation.

Navy Cmdr. William R. Anderson, who commanded the atomic submarine on her history-making voyage under Arctic ice last August, also laid the cornerstone for the college's new $377,000 student union building.

He and J. C. Donnell II, president of the Ohio Oil Co. of Findlay were honored at the school's fall convocation. Donnell received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

A crowd estimated at 7,000 persons attended the ceremonies. In his speech, Anderson declared he has nothing but respect for the youth of America.

"I have seen among our youth an amazing degree of alertness, enthusiasm and wholeheartedness," he said. "I have seen superior natural intelligence and I have heard older people state their conviction that today's youth is smarter than yesterday's."

But, he said, today's living requires a new perspective. "In this dynamic time, where changes take place so quickly, it is extremely easy for us to lose the picture—particularly the picture for the future," he said.

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon has taken over direction of the Republican party's campaign and, one way or another, it should have a profound effect on his personal political future.

Nixon could have held aloof and quietly husbanded his strength for the presidential race in 1960. Instead, he chose to pitch in with exertions matching in frequency and vehemence his campaign efforts in 1954 when, as now, he was not a candidate.

The tide seems to be running against the Republicans. Democrats confidently predict big gains in both House and Senate and even control of California, second only to New York in political importance.

A Democratic landslide despite Nixon's efforts might tarnish his prospects in 1960. By closely identifying himself with the 1958 campaign, he has taken the risk of being so deeply snowed under that he might not be able to dig himself out in time for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence.

On the other hand, he might be better off if he can demonstrate enough political dynamism to narrow the margin of defeat if not stave it off entirely. In that case he might emerge as the rallying point for a revitalized GOP drive in 1960.

Nixon's determination to make a fight of it got him involved last week in a curious kind of public debate with the titular head of the party, President Eisenhower. In the upshot both Eisenhower and his chief Cabinet officer, Secretary of State Dulles, backtracked, and Nixon had his way.

Nixon's campaign oratory was stingingly sharp. He accused the Truman administration of being spendthrift and yet miserly with defense funds. He said it "spent more on peanuts than on missiles."

When the Democrats published a manifesto critical of Eisenhower foreign policy, Nixon fired back that "the Acheson foreign policy resulted in war and the Eisenhower-Dulles policy resulted in peace."

In the wake of this, Eisenhower and Dulles told their news conferences they hoped foreign policy would be kept out of the campaign. They appeared to frown on Nixon's slashing statements. But, after the vice president had a number of telephone conversations with Washington, they announced full support for him.

Eisenhower sent Nixon a telegram saying no one could outdo Nixon when it came to defending the administration against Democratic attacks on its foreign policy. Eisenhower generally has let Nixon do the campaign talking about domestic affairs, and the telegram seemed to give him a go-ahead in full.

OSU Shows Off Atom Rickshaw

Gadget Transports Radioactive Medicine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When the rickshaw comes rolling down the corridors at Ohio State University's medical center, step aside.

Riding inside it, more than likely, is a deadly chunk of radioactive material fresh out of the Ohio State cyclotron. It's on its way to the medical center's laboratories, where, in time, it'll probably become another batch of life-saving atomic medicine.

The "atomic rickshaw" is the newest and most colorful piece of equipment in the research center, and staffers there like to think of it as a symbol of the creativity and adaptability in Ohio State's long and successful atomic research program.

The program moves into its 19th year this fall. It's research into the development and use of radioisotopes for medical therapy and diagnosis.

Many an American is alive today because of it.

The total worth of the past 18 years' work is impossible to measure, scientists say. But they're ready to admit the years have produced a good-sized number of historic milestones, such as:

Development of the first radioactive cobalt "needles" for treating cancer. About 1,500 patients at University Hospital, most of them women with uterine cancer, have been treated with cobalt needles.

The first radioactive gold "seeds" to heal tumors. Hundreds of patients have been implanted with the radioactive seeds for treatment of cancer.

The first radioactive chromium "bullets," tiny pellets shot into cancerous tissue for internal therapy.

Development of radio-phosphorus for blood diseases. The phosphorus, added to water, goes under the name "atomic cocktail." It has helped treat more than 1,000 victims of leukemia and polycythemia rubra vera, a cancer-like disease of the blood.

The experiments continue today at the rate of 5,000 a year.

Indiana Solon Blasts Supreme Court Work

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Instead of interpreting the law, the U.S. Supreme Court is writing it in defiance of the constitution, State Sen. D. Russell Bontrager of Elkhart, Ind., told 159 Ohio Exchange Club officials here Sunday. He contends government by law is changing to government by men — totalitarianism.

Musician Red Nichols Sees Life Story Unfold Once Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Most people live their lives only once. With Red Nichols it's different.

First, he lived it. Then he retold it to Paramount Studios, which bought the film rights to his biography. Then he watched his story reviewed on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life." And now he's on the set while Danny Kaye plays Red Nichols in the new film, "The Five Pennies."

But then, a story like Red's is worth re-telling. One of the truly great horn players, his career has led him to the top and also to the bottom of the music world.

He first found fame with his Five Pennies, one of the great Dixieland combos. Then he moved into New York with a bigger band that became a legend. Among his sidemen: Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Gene Krupa, Jack and Charlie Teagarden, Jimmy Dorsey.

The band was playing in the pit for the Broadway smash, "Girl Crazy," when Red was stricken with appendicitis. When he got out of the hospital, he discovered that his ace players had been pirated away from him.

"That was the start of my problems," he reflected. "I was disillusioned and discouraged. I tried to make a go of it with the big band, but I went on tour and I got clobbered."

He admitted that his ill luck prompted him to hit the bottle, "though I was never an alcoholic." After his daughter was stricken with polio, his despair was so great that he decided to give up the music business. For five years he didn't touch his horn.

He lived in San Leandro, Calif., and worked in a war plant. Then, largely at the urging of his daughter, he returned to the jazz he knew so well.

He is now in his mid-50s, and the red in his hair has long since turned to silver. But he still plays a great horn, as listeners to his film recordings can attest.

1220 S. COURT — GR 4-2136

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon has taken over direction of the Republican party's campaign and, one way or another, it should have a profound effect on his personal political future.

Nixon could have held aloof and quietly husbanded his strength for the presidential race in 1960. Instead, he chose to pitch in with exertions matching in frequency and vehemence his campaign efforts in 1954 when, as now, he was not a candidate.

The tide seems to be running against the Republicans. Democrats confidently predict big gains in both House and Senate and even control of California, second only to New York in political importance.

A Democratic landslide despite Nixon's efforts might tarnish his prospects in 1960. By closely identifying himself with the 1958 campaign, he has taken the risk of being so deeply snowed under that he might not be able to dig himself out in time for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence.

On the other hand, he might be better off if he can demonstrate enough political dynamism to narrow the margin of defeat if not stave it off entirely. In that case he might emerge as the rallying point for a revitalized GOP drive in 1960.

Nixon's determination to make a fight of it got him involved last week in a curious kind of public debate with the titular head of the party, President Eisenhower. In the upshot both Eisenhower and his chief Cabinet officer, Secretary of State Dulles, backtracked, and Nixon had his way.

Nixon's campaign oratory was stingingly sharp. He accused the Truman administration of being spendthrift and yet miserly with defense funds. He said it "spent more on peanuts than on missiles."

When the Democrats published a manifesto critical of Eisenhower foreign policy, Nixon fired back that "the Acheson foreign policy resulted in war and the Eisenhower-Dulles policy resulted in peace."

In the wake of this, Eisenhower and Dulles told their news conferences they hoped foreign policy would be kept out of the campaign. They appeared to frown on Nixon's slashing statements. But, after the vice president had a number of telephone conversations with Washington, they announced full support for him.

Eisenhower sent Nixon a telegram saying no one could outdo Nixon when it came to defending the administration against Democratic attacks on its foreign policy. Eisenhower generally has let Nixon do the campaign talking about domestic affairs, and the telegram seemed to give him a go-ahead in full.

OSU Shows Off Atom Rickshaw

Gadget Transports Radioactive Medicine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When the rickshaw comes rolling down the corridors at Ohio State University's medical center, step aside.

Riding inside it, more than likely, is a deadly chunk of radioactive material fresh out of the Ohio State cyclotron. It's on its way to the medical center's laboratories, where, in time, it'll probably become another batch of life-saving atomic medicine.

The "atomic rickshaw" is the newest and most colorful piece of equipment in the research center, and staffers there like to think of it as a symbol of the creativity and adaptability in Ohio State's long and successful atomic research program.

The program moves into its 19th year this fall. It's research into the development and use of radioisotopes for medical therapy and diagnosis.

Many an American is alive today because of it.

The total worth of the past 18 years' work is impossible to measure, scientists say. But they're ready to admit the years have produced a good-sized number of historic milestones, such as:

Development of the first radioactive cobalt "needles" for treating cancer. About 1,500 patients at University Hospital, most of them women with uterine cancer, have been treated with cobalt needles.

The first radioactive gold "seeds" to heal tumors. Hundreds of patients have been implanted with the radioactive seeds for treatment of cancer.

The first radioactive chromium "bullets," tiny pellets shot into cancerous tissue for internal therapy.

Development of radio-phosphorus for blood diseases. The phosphorus, added to water, goes under the name "atomic cocktail." It has helped treat more than 1,000 victims of leukemia and polycythemia rubra vera, a cancer-like disease of the blood.

The experiments continue today at the rate of 5,000 a year.

Musician Red Nichols Sees Life Story Unfold Once Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Most people live their lives only once. With Red Nichols it's different.

First, he lived it. Then he retold it to Paramount Studios, which bought the film rights to his biography. Then he watched his story reviewed on Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life." And now he's on the set while Danny Kaye plays Red Nichols in the new film, "The Five Pennies."

But then, a story like Red's is worth re-telling. One of the truly great horn players, his career has led him to the top and also to the bottom of the music world.

He first found fame with his Five Pennies, one of the great Dixieland combos. Then he moved into New York with a bigger band that became a legend. Among his sidemen: Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Gene Krupa, Jack and Charlie Teagarden, Jimmy Dorsey.

The band was playing in the pit for the Broadway smash, "Girl Crazy," when Red was stricken with appendicitis. When he got out of the hospital, he discovered that his ace players had been pirated away from him.

"That was the start of my problems," he reflected. "I was disillusioned and discouraged. I tried to make a go of it with the big band, but I went on tour and I got clobbered."

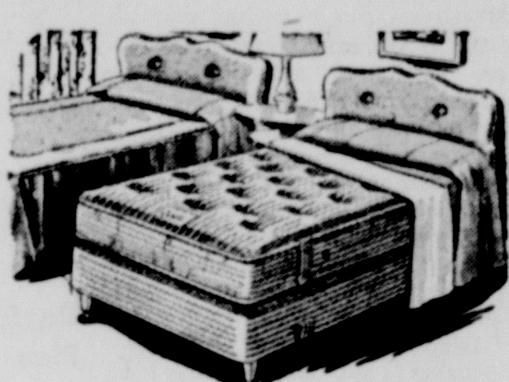

He admitted that his ill luck prompted him to hit the bottle, "though I was never an alcoholic." After his daughter was stricken with polio, his despair was so great that he decided to give up the music business. For five years he didn't touch his horn.

They Just Don't Understand

Moscow's protest, presented by Ambassador Menshikov, to the United States government over the production of a play on television depicting the death of Stalin, illustrates the Kremlin's lack of understanding of how a free system operates.

The play showed Khrushchev and other red cohorts of Stalin refusing to get medical aid when the dictator suffered his stroke. Whether the CBS knows this is the truth of the occurrence is unimportant. However, to the Kremlin minds there was no reason to doubt that CBS was put up to this by Washington and that President Eisenhower could slap down the network for putting on the show. They just don't grasp that freedom has real meaning, that a free government does not dictate what the people shall eat, read, think or see.

Beware while Backing Car

Frequently there are stories in the news or small children killed or seriously injured by automobiles being backed out of private driveways. They should serve as a reminder to all motorists of the need for extra care whenever young children are around a car and whenever the difficult operation of driving a car out of a driveway is being undertaken.

Tiny children do not recognize the danger of an automobile. They will play unconcernedly while a vehicle moves toward them. They will play with the handle of a door as they would with a toy. Remember the extra danger whenever you have a small child in your car. Remember the hazard of playing children whenever you start to drive out of a private driveway.

Marlboro Man of '48 Muses

By HUGH MULLIGAN
(For Hal Boyle)

The class of 1948 of Marlboro College, Marlboro, Vt., held its annual reunion this week and filed the most negative report in the annals of alumni annotation.

Not since the Electoral College gave up football has any college graduating class had a less distinguished history.

After 10 years in the cold cruel world, far from the protective ivy of old alma mater, so the class statistician told the class secretary, who in turn told the class president, the class has chalked up no births, no deaths, no marriages, no divorces, no millionaires, no boweries, no famous artists, musicians or athletes, no captains of industry, no clergymen, no government officials, not even one conspicuous success in women's ready-to-wear or door-to-door vacuum cleaner sales.

The entire class has gained 35 pounds since graduation, drives a 1953 model car, works in a cramped, cluttered office, lives in a five-room walk-up apartment in what sociologists term a culturally deprived neighborhood, files a simplified tax return, votes a split ticket, has one cat, no dogs and has never been arrested or dated

Kim Novak or been caught cribbing in an isolation booth.

The Marlboro man 10 years later has less brown hair, more gray hair, less total hair, bleary blue eyes, rakishly fallen arches, smokes a pack of nonfilter cigarettes a day, is always on the threshold of an awesomely austere diet, and exhibits the same ungainly lack of coordination at bowling and table tennis as he did at skiing and ice skating in his more virile campus days.

He may not be handsome; he's something less than dynamic, but one thing you can say about the Marlboro man, vintage '48, he's loyal.

When the class gathered for the reunion in the back booth of a Sixth Avenue bar and rose misty-eyed to sing the old school song, "How Are Things at Casserole College?" not a man was missing. Yes, not a man was missing, even though only one man was there.

And that one man was me—or I, if the English Department had done its duty.

Not many people can say that they were the only member of their college graduating class. Not many people would care to say it, but that is entirely beside the point.

How does one get to be in a class by himself? Well, Marlboro College, located on a lovely Vermont hillside, first opened its doors in 1947 with a full freshman class, a couple of dozen sophomores and juniors, and no seniors until I arrived all eager and bustling for baccalaureate.

Before the war I had attended a two-year college, picked up another year at a university operated by the army at Biarritz, France, and persuaded the Marlboro faculty to put the intellectual roof on their noble edifice by accepting me as a senior.

Even in its first year, Marlboro developed many heart-tugging traditions, most of them built around the casserole dishes that seemed to be a fixture at nightly meals and inspired the old school song. Since that time, the college has turned out many brilliant and distinguished graduates, but only the class of '48 could boast of a man who not only finished first in his class, but was voted class athlete, class poet, class valedictorian, most likely to succeed, best mixer, best lover, most popular, and at once the tallest, shortest, fattest, slimmest, smartest, dullest, most ingratiating of his peers.

Dulles and International Scene

By George Sokolsky

I saw an editorial in the Syracuse "Herald-American," signed by Alexander F. Jones, on "Diplomatic Blackmail in the Far East." It was an amusing editorial in parts, but it contained this opinion:

"Mr. Dulles, who is getting to be an international nuisance, and a terrible bore, continues to belittle the U. S. is ready to 'risk war' over the offshore islands.

"So far as I am concerned that is one war Mr. Dulles could fight all by himself for he would find he was practically alone if his foot ever slips in that 'brinkmanship' balancing act of his."

Unfortunately for Mr. Jones and those who believe as he does, the policy adopted by John Foster Dulles vis-a-vis the Soviet Universal State has worked out brilliantly both in the Middle East and the Far East.

Without referring to such synthetic words as "brinkmanship," let us analyze that policy.

The proposition: Soviet Russia, having seized the initiative in 1945 and having held it since then, maintains the world in turmoil by short, limited wars or by incidents which require swift, emergency retaliatory actions lest they develop into general wars.

President Truman developed the Truman Doctrine which drew a line containing Soviet Russia. That line was breached on several occasions, principally by the absorption of Red China, North Korea, North Vietnam and other Asiatic areas into the Soviet Universal State and then by the development of the United Arab Republic under Nasser as a Soviet ally. The extension of Soviet power took place in both the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

Handling international relations in troubled times has never been a simple matter. Such men as Talleyrand and Metternich faced complexities as great as ours, but their world was smaller. They did not have as many allies or as many neutrals; they were not faced by a geographical spread such as now faces the United States; they were not concerned with what we nowadays call "public opinion," a synthetic proposition based on the assumption that a common denominator exists between the expert and the ill-informed.

John Foster Dulles is required by the circumstances in which his country finds itself to hold out allies at any cost except defeat; he is faced by a new range of weapons, the nature and ultimate capacity of which are hardly understood and in which the enemy is as proficient as we are; he is faced by an inflation at home and by the rising trade capacities in international markets of nations that heretofore have not so traded, thus engendering the political antagonisms that arise from economic competition.

He faces the fact that the enemy plans a series of short, limited wars on a shuttle-cock pattern—one stops, another starts—and that the time schedule of these wars has naturally not been disclosed. His task is threefold:

1. To prevent the limited wars from developing into a general war;
2. To uphold the honor and dignity of the United States without impairing the honor and dignity of any other nation;
3. To prevent Soviet Russia from separating the United States from its allies.

Quemoy is a pawn in this. Quemoy is of no political or economic importance. However, as a phase of the Middle Eastern situation, involving Lebanon and Iraq, it was essential for Soviet Russia to bring to a close what could have developed into a general war and to divert attention elsewhere. Dulles has proved to be correct in his handling of the Lebanese situation; he caught up with the Soviet Universal State in its swift shift to Quemoy. He is undoubtedly prepared to meet the next shift of Soviet policy to somewhere else. It will come quickly enough.

It would seem that the less men know, the more sure they are that they can solve the outstanding questions between Russia and the United States better than John Foster Dulles has done. They would have had Soviet Russia win an enormous victory in the East of Asia over a barren island because their very practical minds are not sufficiently expansive to envisage the broad historic meaning of such a victory.

Perhaps that is why Russians have such contempt for what they call Wall Street. They have no contempt for Dulles who has now out-thought them in two difficult situations, Lebanon and Quemoy.

You're Telling Me!

By HOYT KING
Central Press Writer

Americans last year, statistics show, spent $250 million for fishing tackle. Would have been a lot cheaper, the man at the next desk opines, just to drop down to the grocery store for a couple of cans of tuna or sardines.

A New York art dealer paid $616,000 for a modernistic painting at a London auction. The price, says Zadok Dumkopf, sounds super-modern to him.

See where a wealthy young easterner is about to collect $5 million more in inheritance. Well, HE'S all set for Christmas shopping!

Whales, according to a natural history article, have a few scattered hairs on their heads. How come no sea-story writer never referred to the big bruisers as the "bald eagles of the briny deep?"

Tillie, our titian-tressed typewriter tapper, has just confessed that she always thought those striped footballs originated in prison gridiron games.

It took more than 300 years to complete a French dictionary, we read. Guess they just couldn't find that "last word" we hear of so often.

Statistics show that Americans spent an increasing number of millions of dollars annually combating the sniffles. Maybe that's what Doc means when he says don't "pamper" a cold!

Arthritis Hits Kids, Too

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Rheumatoid arthritis is primarily a disease of adults. However, this does not mean that children are immune. In fact, it has been estimated that of the 4,700,000 Americans now suffering from this crippling disease, some 127,000 of them are children.

So I think you parents should know a little more about rheumatoid arthritis than you probably do. Most young victims of this form of arthritis are stricken when they are less than three years old. For some reason it seems to strike girls twice as often as it does boys. And there is an indication that the disease travels in families.

As in the case of rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis usually occurs in children following a strep throat infection. This is one reason why it sometimes is misdiagnosed as rheumatic fever, or even as osteomyelitis or leukemia. In youngsters under the age of eight, the disease seems to attack the larger joints, such as the knee, more than any other.

Despite the fact that rheumatoid arthritis is the most crippling form of arthritis, most young victims have a pretty good chance of recovering from the effects within a two year period.

However, if the disease does not subside within the first three years, the outlook isn't too encouraging. Some young victims will be plagued by the illness for 20 years or even longer.

Early hospital care is necessary in most cases. There should be prolonged bed rest for the young patient and adequate physical therapy.

By acting to remedy the situation early, you will be doing a lot to help your youngster should he ever be stricken by rheumatoid arthritis.

Question and Answer

L. C. What would be the cause of a very bitter taste in the mouth on awakening every morning? I have had this since taking some black capsules for a leg hematoma.

A. The presence of a bitter taste in the mouth may be due to many things, such as an infection in the teeth, nasal sinuses, or the throat. It also may be due to constipation or some other digestive disorder. Some drugs might be responsible for the condition.

However, a thorough examination by your physician would be necessary to determine the exact cause.

And that one man was me—or I, if the English Department had done its duty.

Not many people can say that they were the only member of their college graduating class. Not many people would care to say it, but that is entirely beside the point.

How does one get to be in a class by himself? Well, Marlboro College, located on a lovely Vermont hillside, first opened its doors in 1947 with a full freshman class, a couple of dozen sophomores and juniors, and no seniors until I arrived all eager and busting for baccalaureate.

Before the war I had attended a two-year college, picked up another year at a university operated by the army at Biarritz, France, and persuaded the Marlboro faculty to put the intellectual roof on their noble edifice by accepting me as a senior.

Even in its first year, Marlboro developed many heart-tugging traditions, most of them built around the casserole dishes that seemed to be a fixture at nightly meals and inspired the old school song.

Since that time, the college has turned out many brilliant and distinguished graduates, but only the class of '48 could boast of a man who not only finished first in his class, but was voted class athlete, class poet, class valedictorian, most likely to succeed, best mixer, best lover, most popular, and at once the tallest, shortest, fattest, slimmest, smartest, dullest, most ingratiating of his peers.

Dulles and International Scene

By George Sokolsky

I saw an editorial in the Syracuse "Herald-American," signed by Alexander F. Jones, on "Diplomatic Blackmail in the Far East." It was an amusing editorial in parts, but it contained this opinion:

"Mr. Dulles, who is getting to be an international nuisance, and a terrible bore, continues to belittle the U. S. is ready to 'risk war' over the offshore islands.

"So far as I am concerned that is one war Mr. Dulles could fight all by himself for he would find he was practically alone if his foot ever slips in that 'brinkmanship' balancing act of his."

Unfortunately for Mr. Jones and those who believe as he does, the policy adopted by John Foster Dulles vis-a-vis the Soviet Universal State has worked out brilliantly both in the Middle East and the Far East.

Without referring to such synthetic words as "brinkmanship," let us analyze that policy:

The proposition: Soviet Russia, having seized the initiative in 1945 and having held it since then, maintains the world in turmoil by short, limited wars or by incidents which require swift, emergency retaliatory actions lest they develop into general wars.

President Truman developed the Truman Doctrine which drew a line containing Soviet Russia. That line was breached on several occasions, principally by the absorption of Red China, North Korea, North Vietnam and other Asiatic areas into the Soviet Universal State and then by the development of the United Arab Republic under Nasser as a Soviet ally. The extension of Soviet power took place in both the Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

Handling international relations in troubled times has never been a simple matter. Such men as Talleyrand and Metternich faced complexities as great as ours, but their world was smaller. They did not have as many allies or as many neutrals; they were not faced by a geographical spread such as now faces the United States; they were not concerned with what we nowadays call "public opinion," a synthetic proposition based on the assumption that a common denominator exists between the expert and the ill-informed.

John Foster Dulles is required by the circumstances in which his country finds itself to hold out allies at any cost except defeat; he is faced by a new range of weapons, the nature and ultimate capacity of which are hardly understood and in which the enemy is as proficient as we are; he is faced by an inflation at home and by the rising trade capacities in international markets of nations that heretofore have not so traded, thus engendering the political antagonisms that arise from economic competition.

He faces the fact that the enemy plans a series of short, limited wars on a shuttle-cock pattern—one stops, another starts—and that the time schedule of these wars has naturally not been disclosed. His task is threefold:

1. To prevent the limited wars from developing into a general war;
2. To uphold the honor and dignity of the United States without impairing the honor and dignity of any other nation;
3. To prevent Soviet Russia from separating the United States from its allies.

Quemoy is a pawn in this. Quemoy is of no political or economic importance. However, as a phase of the Middle Eastern situation, involving Lebanon and Iraq, it was essential for Soviet Russia to bring to a close what could have developed into a general war and to divert attention elsewhere. Dulles has proved to be correct in his handling of the Lebanese situation; he caught up with the Soviet Universal State in its swift shift to Quemoy. He is undoubtedly prepared to meet the next shift of Soviet policy to some other place. It will come quickly enough.

It would seem that the less men know, the more sure they are that they can solve the outstanding questions between Russia and the United States better than John Foster Dulles has done. They would have had Soviet Russia win an enormous victory in the East of Asia over a barren island because their very practical minds are not sufficiently expansive to envisage the broad historic meaning of such a victory.

Perhaps that is why Russians have such contempt for what they call Wall Street. They have no contempt for Dulles who has now out-thought them in two difficult situations, Lebanon and Quemoy.

Americans last year, statistics show, spent $250 million for fishing tackle. Would have been a lot cheaper, the man at the next desk opines, just to drop down to the grocery store for a couple of cans of tuna or sardines.

A New York art dealer paid $816,000 for a modernistic painting at a London auction. The price, says Zadok Dumkopf, sounds super-modern to him.

Arthritis Hits Kids, Too

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Rheumatoid arthritis is primarily a disease of adults. However, this does not mean that children are immune. In fact, it has been estimated that of the 4,700,000 Americans now suffering from this crippling disease, some 127,000 of them are children.

So I think you parents should know a little more about rheumatoid arthritis than you probably do.

Most young victims of this form of arthritis are stricken when they are less than three years old. For some reason it seems to strike girls twice as often as it does boys. And there is an indication that the disease travels in families.

As in the case of rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis usually occurs in children following a strep throat infection. This is one reason why it sometimes is misdiagnosed as rheumatic fever, or even as osteomyelitis or leukemia.

In youngsters under the age of eight, the disease seems to attack the larger joints, such as the knee, more than any other.

Despite the fact that rheumatoid arthritis is the most crippling form of arthritis, most young victims have a pretty good chance of recovering from the effects within a two-year period.

However, if the disease does not subside within the first three years, the outlook isn't too encouraging. Some young victims will be plagued by the illness for 20 years or even longer.

Early hospital care is necessary in most cases. There should be prolonged bed rest for the young patient and adequate physical therapy.

By acting to remedy the situation early, you will be doing a lot to help your youngster should he ever be stricken by rheumatoid arthritis.

L. C. What would be the cause of a very bitter taste in the mouth on awakening every morning? I have had this since taking some black capsules for a leg hematoma.

A. The presence of a bitter taste in the mouth may be due to many things, such as an infection in the teeth, nasal sinuses, or the throat. It also may be due to constipation or some other digestive disorder. Some drugs might be responsible for the condition.

However, a thorough examination by your physician would be necessary to determine the exact cause.

Sen. Morse, Bricker Foe Rap Move To Curb Unions

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) and Stephen M. Young, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate in Ohio, teamed Sunday night in an attack on the proposed amendment to regulate labor contracts.

Morse struck at the theory of the amendment while Young took off on his opponent, Sen. John W. Bricker, for supporting the proposal, known in Ohio as Issue 2.

"Right-to-work laws in Ohio or any state are just the beginning of a campaign by anti-labor forces to tear down welfare legislation such as social security, unemployment compensation and similar measures," Morse asserted. He added:

"Right-to-work laws tend to be destructive of unions and stable collective bargaining and they are destructive of the public interest. They defeat national policy by hamstringing unions and encouraging labor-management distrust and economic struggle."

Young shared the speaking platform with the Oregon senator at a rally sponsored by United Organized Labor of Trumbull County. The meeting was attended by 1,800 persons.

Young said Bricker's support of the proposal was made in desperation to get re-elected.

"It is only in his desperation to get re-elected that he attempts to perpetrate this gigantic hoax on the people of Ohio," the Democrat asserted.

"Mr. Bricker's attempts to pose as a friend of labor and, at the same time, perpetrate upon them the so-called right-to-work proposal is nothing more than sheer hokum and deliberate fraud," Young declared.

The proposed amendment in Ohio, requiring a yes or no vote Nov. 4, says:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We live in what was once a good residential section, in which there are lower class apartments, etc., now. As we have a large house and yard, and our children have a good variety of toys, youngsters from these tenement-type buildings are attracted to our children and their toys.

These neighbor children have little if any supervision in their play, and are allowed to amuse themselves as best they can. As I am a working mother, I can't supervise their play either; but do try to keep my children in our yard.

I don't want to tell my children that they can't play with these neighbor children because they don't dress well, never look clean, or are poor. But as a Christian, what advice or rules can I give my children as to their associates? My children don't choose these children as associates, but are chosen by them.

Possibly I feel our family position isn't secure enough to risk associations with these tenement children; and would like to push my children higher on the social ladder than their parents. Is this a healthy ambition?

McIntosh, Miss Russell Top Callers

Martha Russell, Route 2, Williamsport, and Rex McIntosh, Route 1, Pataskala, were crowned champion hog callers during Saturday night's Pumpkin Show competition.

Mrs. Russell earned top honors in the women's division and McIntosh did the same in the men's class. The test of vocal cords was conducted at the W. Main St. platform.

Most spectators witnessing the contest agreed that if any hogs had been in the vicinity, they probably would have come running when the two champions cut loose.

Second place in the women's class went to Sally Spangler, Columbus. Third place was awarded to Viola Wright, Chillicothe.

C. E. COUNTS, Chillicothe, turned in the second place yell in men's competition. Marvin Spangler, Route 3, Circleville, last year's men's champion, gained third place.

The contest was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd. Judges said competition was keen, making it difficult to pick the winners.

Dr. Lloyd Sprouse Speaker For Roundtown Garden Club

Dr. Lloyd Sprouse was the guest speaker for the Roundtown Garden Club when it met recently in the home of Mrs. Thomas Curry, 146 Pleasant St. Mrs. Wesley Edstrom Jr., president, presided during the business meeting.

It was reported the club received a check from the Ohio State Fair for the garden it had prepared at the fair. Mrs. Edstrom also announced that two evergreens had been purchased by the club and planted at the Girl Scout Camp Miska. It was brought to the attention of the club members that the Garden Club of Ohio was holding a "school of landscaping" at the Hotel Cleveland on October 21-22 in Cleveland.

Dr. Sprouse presented an interesting and informative talk on roses. He said, "when one starts growing roses he should choose a site away from trees and one preferably having shade after mid-afternoon. You can plant in either early spring or fall but which ever time you choose be sure and buy good bushes with which to start your garden."

"The rose bed should be one and half to two feet deep and be prepared with one-half the original soil, one-fourth rotted manure and one-fourth peat moss. There must be good drainage and if the soil doesn't provide it naturally add some tile or crushed stone to the bottom of your bed."

Sprouse then said, "transplanting should be done after the growing season is over, the bush pruned back quite a bit and the roots bared of soil. In the spring fertilizer should be applied as soon as new growth begins to show and throughout the summer the bushes should be fed once a month. A fertilizer should be used that has a higher percentage of nitrogen than that used on your lawn."

"Mulching is done to serve three purposes—to keep weeds down, to keep the ground cool and to help hold the moisture. Bushes should be kept free of disease by using a spray or dust after every rain and daily inspection of your bushes and keep all leaves showing signs of blackspot picked off. These leaves should be thrown away or burned and not left on the ground as the disease can spread from them to neighboring bushes."

Dr. Sprouse remarked, "lately floribunda roses were becoming increasingly popular as they were less susceptible to disease, more likely to live through the winters and bloom more profusely."

Following the program and business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess to 11 members and three guests, Dr. Sprouse, Mrs. J. C. Timberlake and Mrs. Russell Lutz, present.

SEEN in ROME

TRAVELERS will like this low belted coat of wool tweed.

ON THE RIGHT is a three-quarter topper of cerise wool. At left, a sheath of matching fabric with a high waist.

By SUSAN BARDEN

Fine Italian hands are very apparent in these imports that are fresh from the haute couture of Rome. Though the three fashions shown are strictly for daytime they feature the latest silhouettes combined with the finest fabrics and the most expert workmanship.

The famous Fabiani is responsible for this impressive and practical coat made of light green tweed wool. It has a low belt and unpressed pleats in back. The below-elbow sleeves are belted and cuffed, and the collar is wide and away from the neck.

Simonetta, another eminent

Roman, created the dress and coat. Both are of cerise wool tweed. The coat has three-quarter sleeves, a very wide collar and a big pearl button closing that gives a double-breasted effect.

The frock is detailed with a round neckline, short sleeves, a buttoned flap on the bodice and unpressed pleats below the waist.

Household Hints

A meringue has a good chance of being "leakproof" if the sugar called for is beaten, rather than folded in to the egg whites.

Cover the bone tips of a crown roast with foil before the meat goes into the oven to prevent their charred appearance.

Wife Preservers

Soapsuds keep asphalt from sticking. Keep a bowl of suds handy for dipping knife or scissor blades when cutting asphalt-backed linoleum, for example.

Steel Makers Getting Bullish

Signs of Recovery Growing Stronger

CLEVELAND (AP)—Signs of the economic recovery are so compelling that even conservative steel producers are getting bullish, Steel Magazine said in its issue out today.

It predicted that steelmaking operations will reach 85 per cent of rated capacity before the end of the year, a jump of 10 per cent over the most optimistic forecast a few weeks ago.

The metalworking weekly pointed out that when the recession began consumers cut their steel inventories drastically, but now with the first signs of better business they're hastily building stocks. As a result the recovery in steel production is faster than it is in the metal consuming industries, it added.

"Steelmakers who challenged the prediction that 1959 output would be at least 110 million ingot tons are beginning to accept that estimate," the publication said, "but they don't think peak operations next year will exceed 90 per cent."

Steel said that about 10 per cent of the industry's capacity is obsolete and that producers won't use high cost facilities unless they have to. It added that demand won't require 100 per cent operations unless hedging against a threatened steel strike starts.

Automobile production is affected by spot strikes, resulting in a delay of steel orders. Auto assemblies are less than half of what they were a year ago, Steel said. It estimated that General Motors Corp. has delayed shipment of about two weeks' steel tonnage.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 4,600 workers at General Motors Corp. plants here and in Sandusky have ended a walkout started Oct. 2 at the Fisher Body Coit Road plant, 3,000 workers started back to their jobs, and at the New Departure Division of GM at Sandusky, 1,600 returned. Local issues had tied up both plants after the United Automobile Workers and GM reached agreement on a national contract.

Steel's price composite on steel-making scrap remained at $42.33 a gross ton compared with $43 a month ago.

Business Takes Giant Step Toward Recovery in Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Business took another giant step along the comeback trail this week.

The quickened economic tempo last summer before the recession gave the railroads a lift — freight carloadings touched a new 1958 high for the fifth straight week. Stepped up production of steel, copper, aluminum, zinc and lead contributed mightily to the economy's forward surge this week. So did consumer buying.

Total production of goods and services roared along at an annual clip of better than 440 billion dollars. Government economists said it should hit a record 450 billion by year-end.

On the national economic level the fast pace of recovery showed up vividly in a brand new batch of government statistics:

1. Personal income of Americans climbed in September to a record annual rate of 357½ billion dollars (adjusted for seasonal variations). That's a gain of 11 billion since February's recession low.

2. Output of U. S. mines and factories climbed to 137 per cent of the 1947-49 average — at a time (September) when Detroit was up to its neck in labor strife and model changeovers and auto production had slowed to a crawl.

3. Private housing starts in September soared to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,220,000 foundations poured — highest since October 1955.

Confidence ruled this week from main street to Wall Street — and dispelled much of the gloom that had shrouded Automobile Row.

It was very much in evidence, too, at the annual Hot Springs, Va., meeting of President Eisenhower's Business Advisory Council, a group comprising the biggest names in U. S. industry, trade and finance. Consensus of the corporate elite: the recovery will continue to gain momentum if the new 1959 cars catch on.

The stock market thundered to a series of new record highs in the heaviest trading in years. Bulls took a sharp hike in margin requirements (from 70 to 90 per cent) in stride.

Stock sales in the latest week totaled 24,402,570 shares compared to 19,104,940 shares in the previous week and 13,157,631 in the same week last year.

Bond sales had a par value of $33,025,000 in the latest week, $30,098,000 in the previous week and $24,148,600 in the corresponding 1957 week.

Business in the nation's retail stores picked up briskly. Dollar volume of retail trade as measured by Dun & Bradstreet showed gains ranging from 4 to 8 per cent over a year ago.

A new note of prosperity was injected by General Motors this week.

After a lapse of one year, the big auto maker revived its glittering Motorama — A three-million-dollar extravaganza featuring Broadway showgirls, GM's dream cars of the future, and the new Cadillacs, Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets for 1959.

There was a good chance that many of the 7,900,000 Americans who bought new cars in 1955 would be ready to buy again now. GM dealers had one big complaint — a shortage of cars. With local labor issues still unresolved, GM's 124 U. S. auto plants have been shut down since Oct. 2.

Briefly over the business scene: Deputy Defense Secretary Donald Quarles told businessmen that defense spending in fiscal 1960 may exceed 42 billion dollars.

A new retail giant is in the making — a company that will unite Hecht & Co. of Washington, D. C., and Baltimore with May Department Stores Co. Combined annual sales of the two firms will top 635 million dollars. Cigarette manufacturers shipped a record 39,600,000,000 smokes in August — up 4.3 per cent from the like 1957 month.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, resigned as a trustee of the Samuel H. Kress foundation. Ryan Aeronautical Co. of Los Angeles received a 20 million-dollar contract to produce radar navigation equipment for the U. S. Navy.

In the past 8½ years, the U. S. population has climbed from 150 million to 175 million. At that rate it should reach 200 million by 1967. Don't look now, but the derby hat is trying for comeback. In Midtown Manhattan where executives of the nation's top advertising agencies ply their trade, the iron hat is getting to be known as the "Madison Avenue crash helmet."

Cuban Rebel Aides Accused Of Kidnaping

NEW YORK (AP) — Two supporters of Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro are being held on charges of kidnaping a New Jersey lawyer.

The lawyer, Sidney Neubauer, 38, of Farmingdale, N. J., told police he was kidnaped Thursday afternoon and held in a Bronx apartment until he escaped Saturday morning.

Arrested were Joaquin Gomez, 24, of Brooklyn, an architecture student at Pratt Institute and Louis Martinez, 34, an attorney, of (336 Rice Ave.) Canton, Ohio.

Gomez, described as secretary of the Directorio Revolucionario Club in Manhattan, was held in $1,000 bail Sunday. Bail for Martinez was set at $2,500.

Neubauer told newsmen his captors told him he was kidnaped because an associate had not fulfilled a purported agreement with the rebels on a $30,000 arms shipment.

Neubauer said he escaped from four guards after grabbing a revolver and firing it into the ceiling of the Bronx apartment.

In Magistrate's Court Sunday, Asst. Dist. Atty. James Hallisey said Gomez and Martinez "are involved in the Cuban revolution. The complainant was kidnaped at gunpoint and was forced to write ransom notes for $10,000." He added that detectives were seeking other men reportedly involved.

Cap Thieves Are Busy Here

Hub cap thieves apparently were busy at work here during the Pumpkin Show.

Local policemen reported that they were swamped with calls reporting cap thefts. In all, 12 were taken during the weekend. Several others were taken during the first two days of the show.

Police said four caps were taken from Mike Sparks' car, parked on High St. Four were taken from a car owned by Phillip Strausbaugh, Kingston, whose auto was parked on W. Main St.

Gerald Quince, W. Main St., reported two caps missing. His car was parked on N. Scioto St. Neil Frazier, 658 E. Mound St., said two caps were taken from his car. The auto was parked near his home.

PS Booth Entered

Mrs. Jane Schleppe, concession owner, reported that her tent on W. Main St., was entered Wednesday night.

Mrs. Schleppe said articles missing included $50 worth of sales tax stamps, a jar of paste and some scotch tape.

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF

REMEMBER QUEEN SALOTE of the distant land of Tonga—a majestic, 7-foot-tall Polynesian—who all but stole the show at Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1953? Pouring rain could not dim her expansive smile or the finery she was sporting. But said finery didn't come from Tonga—not even from the South Pacific area. It was supplied by New York's R. H. Macy.

Another unusual sale by Macy's (my informant is Margaret Harriman) was made to a Brazilian who liked the looks of a live burro he spotted in a promotion stunt and insisted it be sent to his plantation in far-off Brazil. Some weeks later, however, it was returned for credit. Wrote the burro-fancier: "When I saw it at my home, alas, it did not have the same appealing expression around the eyes."

In a Stamford, Conn., book shop a couple came upon 25 copies of Homer's "Odyssey." "I wonder why they stock that book so heavily?" observed the wife. The husband surmised, "Probably a local author."

Bexley Girl Wins Baton Twirling Test

Blonde Linda Ohmer, Bexley, danced and twirled her way to first place in the Pumpkin Show's Baton contest Saturday night.

The young twirler displayed her ability before a large crowd at the W. Main St. platform. Preliminary twirling had been conducted in the afternoon, with the finalists making appearances in the evening.

Miss Ohmer was presented with a beautiful trophy for her winning effort.

Second place went to another Bexley girl, Eloise Ann Buker. Vickie Lee Hess, Marion Franklin, was third and John Campbell came in fourth.

MUSIC for the finals was provided by the Yellow Bud Community Band. James Shea acted as master of ceremonies.

A chill wind which swept the platform gave the young twirlers some numb fingers. However, all contestants presented entertaining performances of a large host of viewers.

Benny Shitzinger, world's champion baton twirler, was among the spectators viewing the finals. He performed here during a similar contest nine years ago. For the last five years he has been touring with the Harlem Globetrotters basketball show.

DiSalle Shuns Debate on Union Controls

CLEVELAND (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor who opposes the proposed state constitutional amendment to regulate labor union contracts, refused to be drawn into questioning on the subject Sunday night.

Appearing on a local television program DiSalle was asked about the proposal, known as Issue 2. He replied by saying his opposition to the question was well known and added, "It will be history two weeks from next Tuesday."

The important thing, DiSalle said, is who is going to be governor.

"The problems of governorship will be with us for four years."

The proposed amendment, requiring a yes or no vote, says: "No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Here Is What Party Aides Say About Ohio Poll Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — They won't be quoted by name, but this is what political workers in both parties are saying here about the Ohio congressional campaigns:

Senate race—Republican viewpoint: "John Bricker is a shoo-in. He's one of our brightest spots." Democratic viewpoint: "A tough race for us (Stephen Young is the Democratic candidate), but we're not conceding anything. Our strength is growing all over."

House races—Republican viewpoint: "We'll hold all the seats we now have (17 vs 6 for the Democrats. Democratic viewpoint: "We have an excellent chance, if Mike DiSalle runs strong, of increasing our delegation by two or three seats."

This last point—Democrat DiSalle's effort to unhorse Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill—is one thing the Democrats believe could alter the recent Ohio tradition of Republicanism.

As one Democrat put it, the party believes DiSalle is gaining strength and may pull a few new House members in.

Here are the races where the Democrats say a switch is possible (all others expected to go to party holding seat):

Bexley Girl Wins Baton Twirling Test

Blonde Linda Ohmer, Bexley, danced and twirled her way to first place in the Pumpkin Show's Baton contest Saturday night.

The young twirler displayed her ability before a large crowd at the W. Main St. platform. Preliminary twirling had been conducted in the afternoon, with the finalists making appearances in the evening.

Miss Ohmer was presented with a beautiful trophy for her winning effort.

Second place went to another Bexley girl, Eloise Ann Buker. Vickie Lee Hess, Marion Franklin, was third and John Campbell came in fourth.

MUSIC for the finals was provided by the Yellow Bud Community Band. James Shea acted as master of ceremonies.

A chill wind which swept the platform gave the young twirlers some numb fingers. However, all contestants presented entertaining performances of a large host of viewers.

Benny Shultzinger, world's champion baton twirler, was among the spectators viewing the finals. He performed here during a similar contest nine years ago. For the last five years he has been touring with the Harlem Globetrotters basketball show.

DiSalle Shuns Debate on Union Controls

CLEVELAND (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor who opposes the proposed state constitutional amendment to regulate labor union contracts, refused to be drawn into questioning on the subject Sunday night.

Appearing on a local television program DiSalle was asked about the proposal, known as Issue 2. He replied by saying his opposition to the question was well known and added, "It will be history two weeks from next Tuesday."

The important thing, DiSalle said, is who is going to be governor.

"The problems of governorship will be with us for four years."

The proposed amendment, requiring a yes or no vote, says:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

REMEMBER QUEEN SALOTE of the distant land of Tonga—a majestic, 7-foot-tall Polynesian—who all but stole the show at Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1953? Pouring rain could not dim her expansive smile or the finery she was sporting. But said finery didn't come from Tonga—not even from the South Pacific area. It was supplied by New York's R. H. Macy.

Another unusual sale by Macy's (my informant is Margaret Harriman) was made to a Brazilian who liked the looks of a live burro he spotted in a promotion stunt and insisted it be sent to his plantation in far-off Brazil. Some weeks later, however, it was returned for credit. Wrote the burro-fancier: "When I saw it at my home, alas, it did not have the same appealing expression around the eyes."

In a Stamford, Conn., book shop a couple came upon 25 copies of Homer's "Odyssey." "I wonder why they stock that book so heavily?" observed the wife. The husband surmised, "Probably a local author."

Darby Gains County Grid Crown

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

The Trojans of Darby Twp. High School reign over the Pickaway County Six Man Football League after pining a 25-0 defeat on Scioto Saturday night.

The Stoutsville Indians ran over a subdued and undermanned Walnut by the score of 26-6. The Indian victory gave them undisputed second place in the league and Walnut dropped to third.

The Saltcreek Warriors won their first contest of the season by upsetting Pickaway, 33-28, in the best game of the evening. Saltcreek trailed throughout the entire first half, but rallied in the second half for a team victory.

The win gave Saltcreek, Pickaway and Scioto identical 1-4 records and a tie for fourth position.

THE DARBY Trojans set out early in their game with Scioto to assure themselves of an undisputed title. After the Buffaloes were forced to punt on their first series of downs, Darby quarterback, Tommy Walters, took the ball and ran 50 yards for a touchdown.

Walters, who was outstanding all evening, scored in the third quarter and an extra point in the final stanza.

Gary Wardell registered Darby's second score with a 44-yard run after both teams had exchanged the ball several times. Again in the second period the Trojans were on Scioto's two-yard-line, but were held by the determined Buffaloes.

The final TD was a Walters-to-David Musselman pass covering 21 yards. The same combination passed for the extra point. The final score read 25-0 with the Trojans on top.

Darby had two first downs to Scioto's three. The Buffaloes attempted 23 passes and completed 11. One Scioto pass with seconds to go, bounced off the shoulder pads of Roy Sanders deep in the end zone.

The Trojans kept their attack mostly on the ground, trying only four passes, completing half of them. The Buffaloes fumbled twice losing the ball once. Darby fumbled once and lost the ball.

DEFENSIVE standouts included Scioto's Little brothers, Terry and Ronnie. Bob Whiteside and Ernie Milburn. Special mention should be given 255 lb. Nick Dountz, who played a stellar center position and was always in the Darby backfield.

The Darby defense was led by Tommy Liff, Musselman, Walters and Wardell. Its big and rugged line held the Little brothers in check and the Darby backfield kept Scioto's Sanders and Kaiser from riddling it with scoring passes.

The Stoutsville - Walnut battle was the first of the evening and found the score 7-6 with the Indians on top after the first quarter. Stoutsville scored first as Richard Bussert, a thorn in Walnut's side all night, tallied on a 12-yard run. A Randall Crites-to-Bussert pass notched the extra point.

The Tigers were not to be stopped as they came right back with Clarence Gray running 35 yards to the Stoutsville 13-yard-line. Seconds later he scored from two yards out.

The Indians opened up in the second quarter as Bussert streaked 47 yards to make the score read, Stoutsville 13-Walnut 6. After the kickoff, Crites intercepted a Gray pass and the Indians were on the move again, deep in Walnut territory.

Bussert broke loose and registered the third Stoutsville touchdown from 20 yards out, after being trapped on an attempted pass. He just reversed his field and outran the entire Walnut team. Crites ran over for the extra point.

THE FINAL tally of the game was a Crites 31-yard run with seconds remaining on the clock in the first half.

Stoutsville dominated the ball in the first half with its regulars on the field. In the final half the Tigers came to the front and held the ball most of the 20 minutes against the Indians' reserve strength.

Twice Crites ran over for touchdowns, only to have them called back due to penalties. Fumbles and interceptions hurt the Tigers all night. Late in the fourth quarter the Tigers were moving downfield when Stoutsville's Don Guseman intercepted a Billy Hoover pass to stop the threat.

Walnut was playing without the services of David T. Smith, killed last Monday in a tragic pick-up accident. Tom Harber and Melvin Stepp were also noticeable by their absence from the field. The Tigers had the desire to win, but the loss of three regulars hampered their attack. Stoutsville registered five first downs to Walnut's four. The Indians attempted three passes and completed one. Walnut went to the air seven times, completing three. Stoutsville intercepted two costly Walnut passes. The Tigers fumbled three times, losing the ball twice. Stoutsville recovered its only fumble.

Gray was both Walnut's defense and offense Saturday night. He ably directed his inexperienced squad. Ronald Tussing and Lloyd

Davidson were also a help on the Walnut defense.

THE INDIANS' defense fell on the strong shoulders of Crites, Billy Carter, who played good offensive ball also, Gary Warner and Don Guseman.

The second game of the evening found Saltcreek finally getting its offense in gear and grinding out a thrilling five-point victory. The Pirates started as if they would easily ramble to victory.

Pickaway's Jerry Anderson first scored on a 37-yard run. His placekick was good for a two point extra point. Saltcreek's adept and speedy Gary Valentine tallied minutes later on a 10-yard carry. A Roger Clarke-to-George Clifton pass was good for the extra point. Score, Pickaway 8, Saltcreek 7.

Anderson was responsible for the next Pickaway score, running 40 yards to the Saltcreek one-yard-line. He carried over from the two, seconds later. His second straight placekick made the score read, Pickaway 16, Saltcreek 7.

Valentine broke away late in the first quarter for 43 yards and a TD. The second quarter saw Saltcreek take a 26 to 22 lead. The Warriors held Pickaway on the next series of plays and the first play of its offensive series, Gary Valentine passed 55 yards to Keith Turvey and a TD. Clarke passed to Turvey for the extra point.

Dave Petty got the Pirates back into the offensive battle with a 56-yard run on first play after Saltcreek's kickoff. Later, a Jack Fout-to-G. Valentine pass for 47 yards placed the ball on the Pickaway three-yard-line and Warrior

Fout carried the ball in.

IN THE THIRD quarter, Denny Valentine recovered a Pickaway Richard Dean fumble and brother Gary later carried the pigskin five yards for Saltcreek's final score. Clarke passed to Denny Valentine for the extra point.

Pickaway threatened during the last quarter but could only score once on a Petty-to-Anderson 15-yard pass. Another Saltcreek score was nullified by a penalty.

The Pirates attempted four passes and completed three. Saltcreek tried five passes and completed four. The Warriors registered two first downs and held the Pirates to none. Pickaway fumbled twice, losing the ball once. Saltcreek recovered its only fumble.

Bill Harral, Luther Johnson, Anderson and Petty were standouts on the Pirate defense. Gary Valentine, Fout, Turvey and Clifton were excellent in defensive play for Saltcreek. During the final minutes of the game, Clifton and Turvey teamed up for a fine tackling combination and held the Pirates almost by themselves.

The trophy presentation was delayed due to the absence of the trophies. The awards will be given at a later date. The All-County team will be announced sometime next week. The coaches of the county league teams will select the honorary squads.

Crucial Games Coming Up on College Grid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preview of next Saturday's collegiate football in Ohio:

The Ohio Conference championship could hinge on the Wittenberg at Akron game. Wittenberg is pacing the 14-college field with three straight, but Akron handed Wooster its first league loss Saturday to move into the second spot with 4-1. All the others have been beaten, nine of them twice or more.

Bowling Green could move into a Mid-American tie with Miami at 3-0 by beating Kent State, setting the stage for the Redskin-Falcon title affair the following week. Miami, after disposing of Ohio U. Saturday, takes on Indiana this week—and the Redskins are given a good chance to topple the Hoosiers.

The weekend schedule calls for 22 games, 10 against out-of-state foes. Last Saturday the Ohioans won six of nine interstate contests for a season record of 33 wins, 12 losses and two ties, and a scoring advantage of 902 to 643.

Pro Grid Gashouse Gang Out of Gas?

DETROIT (AP) — Professional football's gashouse gang may be out of gas.

In a four-week span, the Detroit Lions have gone from defending world champions to a team trying desperately to escape last place. They lost to the Baltimore Colts Sunday 40-14 and have only a tie to show in four games.

When the Lions' come-from-behind magicians rolled to the title last year in one of the wildest races in National Football League history, they drew acclaim as football's gashouse gang.

Coach George Wilson recalled after Sunday's defeat:

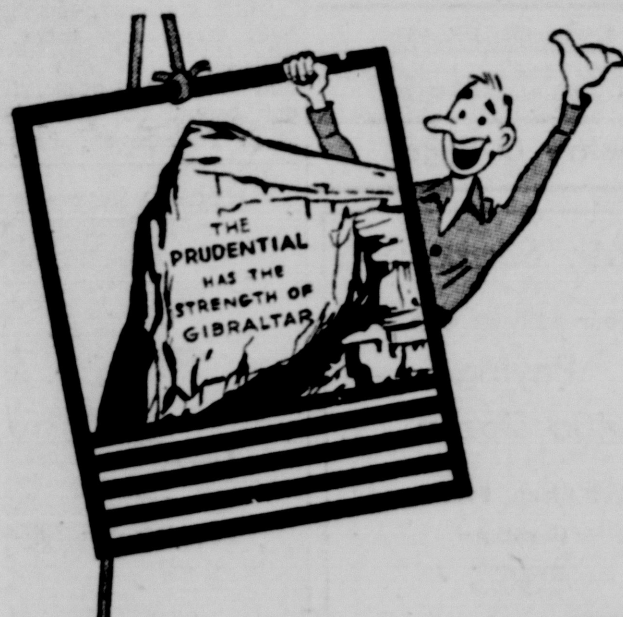

"Someone said we used up 10 years of luck last season. It looks like he was right. In a league as tough as this, a guy doesn't have much time to enjoy the championship."

Marietta, Oberlin at Kenyon, Wittenberg at Akron, Hiram at Mount Union, Capital at Denison, Muskingum at Heidelberg (night).

Presidents' Conference: Case at John Carroll.

Mid-Ohio League: Wilmington at Findlay, Ohio Northern at Defiance, Bluffton at Ashland.

Non-conference: Miami at Indiana, Albion at Wooster, Oklahoma State at Cincinnati, Wabash at Ohio Wesleyan, Tennessee State at Central State, Dayton at Xavier (night), Eastern Kentucky at Youngstown (night).

Farm leader urges: Give workers same freedom of choice as farmers

Charles B. Shuman, President, American Farm Bureau Federation, speaks out in favor of Right to Work in this article reprinted by permission of Nation's Agriculture.

Week after week more and more of the unsavory stench of labor union corruption has been brought to public attention by Congressional investigation. Mass picketing, bombings, secondary boycotts, gangster control, murder, shakedown of employers, arson, theft of trust and pension funds—countless other examples to prove that "power tends to corrupt and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

Labor has the greatest political and economic power ever permitted any organized group in the history of our nation. Current legislative proposals that deal only with the results of the misuse of power will not correct this disgraceful situation. Only by restricting the power of the unions will we eliminate the gangsters, goons and grafters and permit the membership to regain control of their organizations.

There are two principal sources of the dangerous labor union power—exemption from prosecution as a monopoly under antitrust laws and compulsory union membership. No business or financial monopoly was ever more ruthless in fixing prices and restricting competition than is the modern-day labor monopoly—often in collaboration with big business and with government encouragement. Legislation to control this monopoly is badly needed but is unlikely as labor controls one political party and neutralizes the other with fear.

WHAT RIGHT TO WORK WILL DO:

- Give every man and woman in Ohio freedom to join or not to join a labor union.
- Give every man and woman in Ohio freedom to pay or not to pay money to a labor union.
- Prohibit compulsory "Union Shop" agreements between employers and labor officials under which an employee must pay union dues or be fired.
- Make Unions voluntary organizations controlled by members free to act, investigate or resign, as are religious, farm, political or other organizations.
- Require Union organizers to secure members on the basis of services performed rather than compulsion.
- Help correct such abuses of power by some professional union officials as have become a matter of public knowledge.
- Return to Union members effective control of the way their dues and assessments are spent.
- Stop forced contributions used for furthering ambitious programs of political domination.
- Help build public and member confidence in the labor movement.

WHAT RIGHT TO WORK WILL NOT DO:

- Not interfere with the legal right of employees to organize and bargain collectively.
- Not affect hours, seniority, or pensions.
- Not affect wages or bargaining for higher wages.
- Not permit any employer to fire anyone because of union membership or non-membership.
- Not interfere with union membership campaigns.

HERE IS THE AMENDMENT

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this State. All agreements in conflict with this Section are, to the extent of such conflict, unlawful and of no effect in this State. Section 1 of Article I of the Constitution."

Compulsory union membership is an important source of power because control of job opportunity is actually the power to control the worker's life. Fear is the tool of power-hungry organizers—fear of union expulsion and loss of job, fear of heavy fines assessed by union officers, fear of property damage, fear of physical violence to self or family. In opposing forced membership Samuel Gompers, the founder of modern unionism, once said, "No lasting gain has ever come from compulsion." Much of the present corruption in labor organizations is a result of a lack of member interest in union affairs. Members enrolled by conscription methods cannot be expected to be loyal, interested or participating. Forced membership is facilitated by the check-off system of collecting union dues.

State right-to-work laws assure workers that they cannot be denied a job because they are either members or nonmembers of a labor union. Farmers have taken the lead in bringing about the adoption of these laws in 17 states and are supporting similar action in other states. Farm Bureau members believe in voluntary organization; they recognize the need for labor unions; and they favor collective bargaining between labor and business.

We are not anti-labor! However, we are convinced that right-to-work laws are in the best interests of workers themselves as well as the general public. Compulsory membership in any organization—labor, farm, political or religious—is a denial of one of our fundamental human freedoms—it is a form of servitude.

Justice requires that a balance of power be restored. Right-to-work laws will help restore this balance by making union leaders responsible to their members rather than dictatorial masters over them.

THE RIGHT TO WORK CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE FOR ISSUE 2, 50 N. THIRD ST., COLUMBUS, OHIO, ELTON KILE, CHAIRMAN (Member, Ohio Farm Bureau and Ohio State Grange)

Darby Gains County Grid Crown

By J. I. SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

The Trojans of Darby Twp. High School reign over the Pickaway County Six Man Football League after pinning a 25-0 defeat on Scioto Saturday night.

The Stoutsville Indians ran over a subdued and undermanned Walnut by the score of 26-6. The Indian victory gave them undisputed second place in the league and Walnut dropped to third.

The Saltcreek Warriors won their first contest of the season by upsetting Pickaway, 33-28, in the best game of the evening. Saltcreek trailed throughout the entire first half, but rallied in the second half for a team victory.

The win gave Saltcreek, Pickaway and Scioto identical 1-4 records and a tie for fourth position.

THE DARBY Trojans set out early in their game with Scioto to assure themselves of an undisputed title. After the Buffaloes were forced to punt on their first series of downs, Darby quarterback, Tommy Walters, took the ball and ran 50 yards for a touchdown.

Walters, who was outstanding all evening, scored in the third quarter and an extra point in the final stanza.

Gary Wardell registered Darby's second score with a 44-yard run after both teams had exchanged the ball several times. Again in the second period the Trojans were on Scioto's two-yard-line, but were held by the determined Buffaloes.

The final TD was a Walters-to-David Musselman pass covering 21 yards. The same combination passed for the extra point. The final score read 25-0 with the Trojans on top.

Darby had two first downs to Scioto's three. The Buffaloes attempted 23 passes and completed 11. One Scioto pass with seconds to go, bounced off the shoulder pads of Roy Sanders deep in the end zone.

The Trojans kept their attack mostly on the ground, trying only four passes, completing half of them. The Buffaloes fumbled twice losing the ball once. Darby fumbled once and lost the ball.

DEFENSIVE standouts included Scioto's Little brothers, Terry and Ronnie. Bob Whiteside and Ernie Milburn. Special mention should be given 255 lb. Nick Dountz, who played a stellar center position and was always in the Darby backfield.

The Darby defense was led by Tommy Laff, Musselman, Walters and Wardell. Its big and rugged line held the Little brothers in check and the Darby backfield kept Scioto's Sanders and Kaiser from riddling it with scoring passes.

The Stoutsville - Walnut battle was the first of the evening and found the score 7-6 with the Indians on top after the first quarter. Stoutsville scored first as Richard Bussert, a thorn in Walnut's side all night, tallied on a 12-yard run. A Randall Crites-to-Bussert pass notched the extra point.

The Tigers were not to be stopped as they came right back with Clarence Gray running 35 yards to the Stoutsville 13-yard-line. Seconds later he scored from two yards out.

The Indians opened up in the second quarter as Bussert streaked 47 yards to make the score read, Stoutsville 13-Walnut 6. After the kickoff, Crites intercepted a Gray pass and the Indians were on the move again, deep in Walnut territory.

Bussert broke loose and registered the third Stoutsville touchdown from 20 yards out, after being trapped on an attempted pass. He just reversed his field and outran the entire Walnut team. Crites ran over for the extra point.

THE FINAL tally of the game was a Crites 31-yard run with seconds remaining on the clock in the first half.

Stoutsville dominated the ball in the first half with its regulars on the field. In the final half the Tigers came to the front and held the ball most of the 20 minutes against the Indians' reserve strength.

Twice Crites ran over for touchdowns, only to have them called back due to penalties. Fumbles and interceptions hurt the Tigers all night. Late in the fourth quarter the Tigers were moving downfield when Stoutsville's Don Guseman intercepted a Billy Hoover pass to stop the threat.

Walnut was playing without the services of David T. Smith, killed last Monday in a tragic pickup accident. Tom Harber and Melvin Stepp were also noticeable by their absence from the field. The Tigers had the desire to win, but the loss of three regulars hampered their attack.

Stoutsville registered five first downs to Walnut's four. The Indians attempted three passes and completed one. Walnut went to the air seven times, completing three. Stoutsville intercepted two costly Walnut passes. The Tigers fumbled three times, losing the ball twice. Stoutsville recovered its only fumble.

Gray was both Walnut's defense and offense Saturday night. He ably directed his inexperienced squad. Ronald Tussing and Lloyd

Davidson were also a help on the Walnut defense.

THE INDIANS' defense fell on the strong shoulders of Crites, Billy Carter, who played good offensive ball also, Gary Warner and Don Guseman.

The second game of the evening found Saltcreek finally getting its offense in gear and grinding out a thrilling five-point victory. The Pirates started as if they would easily ramble to victory.

Pickaway's Jerry Anderson first scored on a 37-yard run. His placekick was good for a two point extra point. Saltcreek's adept and speedy Gary Valentine tallied minutes later on a 10-yard carry. A Roger Clarke-to-George Clifton pass was good for the extra point. Score, Pickaway 8, Saltcreek 7.

Anderson was responsible for the next Pickaway score, running 40 yards to the Saltcreek one-yard-line. He carried over from the two, seconds later. His second straight placekick made the score read, Pickaway 16, Saltcreek 7.

Valentine broke away late in the first quarter for 43 yards and a TD. The second quarter saw Saltcreek take a 26 to 22 lead. The Warriors held Pickaway on the next series of plays and the first play of its offensive series, Gary Valentine passed 55 yards to Keith Turvey and a TD. Clarke passed to Turvey for the extra point.

Dave Petty got the Pirates back into the offensive battle with a 56-yard run on first play after Saltcreek's kickoff. Later, a Jack Pout-to-G. Valentine pass for 47 yards placed the ball on the Pickaway three-yard-line and Warrior

Fout carried the ball in.

IN THE THIRD quarter, Denny Valentine recovered a Pickaway Richard Dean fumble and brother Gary later carried the pigskin five yards for Saltcreek's final score. Clarke passed to Denny Valentine for the extra point.

Pickaway threatened during the last quarter but could only score once on a Petty-to-Anderson 15-yard pass. Another Saltcreek score was nullified by a penalty.

The Pirates attempted four passes and completed three. Saltcreek tried five passes and completed four. The Warriors registered two first downs and held the Pirates to none. Pickaway fumbled twice, losing the ball once. Saltcreek recovered its only fumble.

Bill Herral, Luther Johnson, Anderson and Petty were standouts on the Pirate defense. Gary Valentine, Pout, Turvey and Clifton were excellent in defensive play for Saltcreek. During the final minutes of the game, Clifton and Turvey teamed up for a fine tackling combination and held the Pirates almost by themselves.

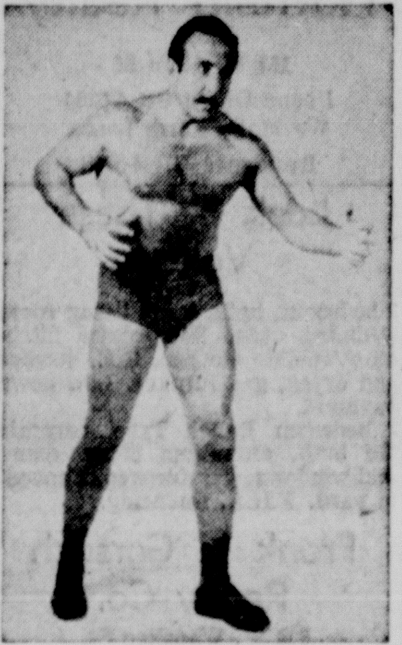

The trophy presentation was delayed due to the absence of the trophies. The awards will be given at a later date. The All-County team will be announced sometime next week. The coaches of the county league teams will select the honorary squads.

Crucial Games Coming Up on College Grid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preview of next Saturday's collegiate football in Ohio:

The Ohio Conference championship could hinge on the Wittenberg at Akron game. Wittenberg is pacing the 14-college field with three straight, but Akron handed Wooster its first league loss Saturday to move into the second spot with 4-1. All the others have been beaten, nine of them twice or more.

Bowling Green could move into a Mid-American tie with Miami at 3-0 by beating Kent State, setting the stage for the Redskin-Falcon title affair the following week. Miami, after disposing of Ohio U. Saturday, takes on Indiana this week—and the Redskins are given a good chance to topple the Hoosiers.

The weekend schedule calls for 22 games, 10 against out-of-state foes. Last Saturday the Ohioans won six of nine interstate contests for a season record of 33 wins, 12 losses and two ties, and a scoring advantage of 902 to 643.

The schedule:
Friday night
Baldwin Wallace vs St. Vincent at Latrobe, Pa.

Saturday
Mid-American: Marshall at Ohio Univ., Kent State at Bowling Green, Toledo at Western Michigan.

Pro Grid Gashouse Gang Out of Gas?

DETROIT (AP) — Professional football's gashouse gang may be out of gas.

In a four-week span, the Detroit Lions have gone from defending world champions to a team trying desperately to escape last place. They lost to the Baltimore Colts Sunday 40-14 and have only a tie to show in four games.

When the Lions' come-from-behind magicians rolled to the title last year in one of the wildest races in National Football League history, they drew acclaim as football's gashouse gang.

Coach George Wilson recalled after Sunday's defeat:

"Someone said we used up 10 years of luck last season. It looks like he was right. In a league as tough as this, a guy doesn't have much time to enjoy the championship."

Marietta, Oberlin at Kenyon, Wittenberg at Akron, Hiram at Mount Union, Capital at Denison, Muskingum at Heidelberg (night).

Presidents' Conference: Case at John Carroll.

Mid-Ohio League: Wilmington at Findlay, Ohio Northern at Defiance, Bluffton at Ashland.

Non-conference: Miami at Indiana, Albion at Wooster, Oklahoma State at Cincinnati, Wabash at Ohio Wesleyan, Tennessee State at Central State, Dayton at Xavier (night), Eastern Kentucky at Youngstown (night).

Chicago Bear '11' Fighting Mad in Pro Grid Scramble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bears are fighting mad.

Favored to win the Western Conference title in the National Football League, the Chicagoans today are in sole possession of second place, only a game behind first-place Baltimore.

The Bears advanced by defeating Los Angeles 31-10 Sunday, but it was owner-coach George Halas, involved in one of the brawls that periodically broke out, who probably instilled the "get tough" attitude.

With the Rams leading 7-0 in the first quarter, Chicago's Ed Brown hit Harlon Hill with a sideline pass and the Ram defenders likewise hit Hill, shoving him out of bounds with authority.

Halas charged down the sidelines, protesting Hill's roughing up. The Rams' Don Burroughs shoved Halas nearly off his pins. Bear guard Abe Gibron pushed Burroughs.

The entire Bear squad rose en masse, but a few words from Halas quieted the situation. Apparently the incident incited the Bears to retaliate with the football.

Baltimore, meanwhile, retained the division lead, tramping defending champion Detroit 40-14. Cleveland defeated Pittsburgh 27-10 to remain at the head of the Eastern Conference.

In other games, Chicago's Cardinals downed New York 23-6, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 30-24, and Washington beat Green Bay 37-21.

Los Angeles (2-2) took its 7-0 lead on a 92-yard Billy Wade to Del Shofner pass, longest scoring aerial of the season. Rookie Erich Barnes tied it, blocking a field goal try and running 41 yards with the loose ball to score. Two TDs by Willie Gallimore iced it for Chicago (3-1).

The Colts (4-0) won on the arm of Johnny Unitas, who pitched a touchdown to Jim Mutscheller in the fourth quarter. It was the 19th straight game in which Unitas had tossed a TD. In all, Unitas passed for more than 200 yards. The Lions (0-3-1) came within a touchdown of the Colts on Yale Lary's 71-yard punt return but wilted in the last period.

Cleveland (4-0) moved two games in front in the East on the running of Jimmy Brown and rookie Bob Mitchell.

But Coach Paul Brown called Sunday's 27-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers a costly one. Mike McCormack, veteran offensive tackle, is in Marymount Hospital with a knee injury and is out of the lineup indefinitely.

'Things' Joins Lonesome End As New Gimmick in Football

EASTON, Pa. (AP) —Army's football team has the lonesome end and now Lafayette College, surprise leader of the Middle Atlantic Conference's university division, has the "The Thing."

"We call it 'The Thing' because we don't have a name for it," Jim McConlogue, making his debut this year as head coach at Lafayette, said today.

Pete Stevens, Temple coach, has a name for it, but his version is slightly unprintable. Lafayette used "The Thing" on its first play Saturday and scored a touchdown. Stevens claimed the play disgraced his team, which went down to a 35-0 defeat.

It took a week's practice and some acting talent on the part of the Lafayette players to pull off "The Thing" which went like this: Bob Howard, Haddonfield, N. J., center, called the huddle five yards to the left of the football instead of the usual distance straight back of the ball. Temple lined up on the ball, as usual. When he broke from the huddle, he pretended he didn't know where the ball was.

Wayne Cipriani, Monessen, Pa., quarterback, sent his team directly to the line of scrimmage. How-

A crowd of 66,852 watched the Browns' sensational running pair —Bobby Mitchell and blockbuster Jim Brown—put on another great performance. Brown snared a short pass from Milt Plum and sped 27 yards for the Browns' first touchdown late in the first period.

Then in the second period he eased around end and sprinted 52 yards for the second touchdown. He set up the final touchdown in the fourth quarter with successive runs of 7, 42, 3 and 1 yard. Mitchell scored that touchdown catching Plum's 7-yard pass in the end zone.

The other Browns' touchdown was on a 36-yard pass from Plum to Ray Renfro in the second period after Bobby Freeman intercepted a pass from Bobby Layne.

Brown, the league's leading ground gainer, boosted his total yardage to 635 for four games, picking up 153 yards in 19 tries Sunday.

The elusive Mitchell went 108 yards in 13 carries. Quarterback Bobby Layne, acquired by the Steelers from Detroit two weeks ago—following the 45-12 drubbing the Browns handed the Steelers at Pittsburgh—was unable to move the team against the rocky Browns' defense.

The lone Pittsburgh touchdown—the first score in the game—came on a long, wobbly pass to Ray Mathews from halfback Tom Tracy, who took the ball on a handoff from Layne. It covered 64 yards. The Steelers did not score again until midway in the final quarter, when Tom Miner booted a 47-yard field goal.

Tracy, a workhorse on the Steelers' offense, was carried out of the game early in the fourth quarter after he suffered leg cramps. The Browns' kicking specialist, Lou Groza, suffered a head injury in the first quarter and was out until the third quarter when he returned to make a 41-yard field goal attempt. The ball struck the upright and bounced outside. A Groza field goal attempt from the Steeler 19 was blocked in the first quarter.

Plum, who kicked two points after touchdown, shared kicking chores with Bob Gain while Groza was out. Gain too was injured in the third quarter shortly before Groza returned to action.

Dr. Vic Ippolito, team physician, believes McCormack suffered cartilage damage. He said he wouldn't know how long McCormack will be out until he sees how the knee responds to treatment.

Brown said he will shift Willie McCung to offensive tackle as a replacement.

ard ran to the ball, yelling, "Over here, fellows."

Cipriani also started yelling, shifting backwards as if he were trying to move his team toward the ball. To further confuse matters, end Dan Wooten, Cape May Courthouse, N. J., was lonesome all by himself near the sidelines. He didn't take part in the huddle, a la Bill Carpenter of Army.

Temple players either pointed warningly at lonely Wooten or gaped at what looked like several Lafayette players losing their minds.

While Cipriani was drifting backwards yelling "Over here," he also called a signal. Howard centered diagonally to halfback Charley Bartos of Phillipsburg, N. J., Bartos, behind four blockers, raced 61 yards unmolested past a stunned Temple defense for a touchdown.

"Howard practiced centering diagonally for a week," chuckled McConlogue, 41, who said he pulled the play several times while coaching football at Central Catholic High School in Allentown, Pa., and at Netcong, N. J. Lafayette won its third straight MAC victory after a loss to Dartmouth.

Latest Dash By Woody Getting Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—While Monday morning quarterbacks analyzed the latest strategy in his one-man campaign for cleaner football, Ohio State's Woody Hayes concentrated on his other big project today:

Keeping his defending Big Ten champion Buckeyes unbeaten. The Bucks play host to Wisconsin Saturday in what is probably their toughest game of the season to date. They had a relatively easy time in beating Indiana 49-8 Saturday, and Hayes planned a scrimmage today in an effort to keep them sharp.

It was in the fourth quarter of Saturday's Indiana game that Hayes followed up physically on remarks he made at a press luncheon a week ago by charging out on the playing field.

At the luncheon, he charged that officials are letting the defense get away with "dirty football and officiating the offense right out of existence."

This outburst prompted Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson to say Hayes was doing college football a disservice.

Woody's rush Saturday netted 15 yards — for Indiana — as officials promptly penalized Ohio State. Later, Hayes couldn't recall exactly what play spurred him to action, but said: "It was just getting worse and worse."

"I'm not accusing any player, coach or conference," he said. "I have not had any backing from any Big Ten coach. But that does not mean I'm wrong... I would be doing a disservice to my game if I smiled and said everything is all right — when it actually isn't."

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ernie Stautner, the Pittsburgh Steelers' big defensive tackle, came here to play football against the Cleveland Browns. Instead, he went to "sleep."

Stautner missed the entire game won by the Cleveland Browns 27-10 Sunday, but it wasn't all his fault. The 6-foot-2, 235-pounder was given an injection to ease pain in a bruised shoulder. It was reported the team doctor put demerol in the hypodermic instead of novocaine.

Stautner went into a deep coma and was rushed to a hospital. He was revived and was listed in fair condition at Cleveland Clinic Hospital Sunday night.

Chicago Bear '11' Fighting Mad in Pro Grid Scramble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bears are fighting mad.

Favored to win the Western Conference title in the National Football League, the Chicagoans today are in sole possession of second place, only a game behind first-place Baltimore.

The Bears advanced by defeating Los Angeles 31-10 Sunday, but it was owner-coach George Halas, involved in one of the brawls that periodically broke out, who probably instilled the "get tough" attitude.

With the Rams leading 7-0 in the first quarter, Chicago's Ed Brown hit Harlon Hill with a sideline pass and the Ram defenders likewise hit Hill, shoving him out of bounds with authority.

Halas charged down the sidelines, protesting Hill's roughing up. The Rams' Don Burroughs shoved Halas nearly off his pins. Bear guard Abe Giron pushed Burroughs.

The entire Bear squad rose en masse, but a few words from Halas quieted the situation. Apparently the incident incited the Bears to retaliate with the football.

Baltimore, meanwhile, retained the division lead, trampling defending champion Detroit 40-14. Cleveland defeated Pittsburgh 27-10 to remain at the head of the Eastern Conference.

In other games, Chicago's Cardinals downed New York 23-6, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 30-24, and Washington beat Green Bay 37-21.

Los Angeles (2-2) took its 7-0 lead on a 92-yard Billy Wade to Del Shofner pass, longest scoring aerial of the season. Rookie Erich Barnes tied it, blocking a field goal try and running 41 yards with the loose ball to score. Two TDs by Willie Galimore iced it for Chicago (3-1).

The Colts (4-0) won on the arm of Johnny Unitas, who pitched a touchdown to Jim Mutscheller in the fourth quarter. It was the 19th straight game in which Unitas had tossed a TD. In all, Unitas passed for more than 200 yards. The Lions (0-3-1) came within a touchdown of the Colts on Yale Lary's 71-yard punt return but wilted in the last period.

Cleveland (4-0) moved two games in front in the East on the running of Jimmy Brown and rookie Bob Mitchell.

But Coach Paul Brown called Sunday's 27-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers a costly one. Mike McCormack, veteran offensive tackle, is in Marymount Hospital with a knee injury and is out of the lineup indefinitely.

A crowd of 66,852 watched the Browns' sensational running play—Bobby Mitchell and blockbuster Jim Brown—put on another great performance. Brown snared a short pass from Milt Plum and sped 27 yards for the Browns' first touchdown late in the first period.

Then in the second period he eased around end and sprinted 52 yards for the second touchdown. He set up the final touchdown in the fourth quarter with successive runs of 7, 42, 3 and 1 yard. Mitchell scored that touchdown catching Plum's 7-yard pass in the end zone.

The other Browns' touchdown was on a 36-yard pass from Plum to Ray Renfro in the second period after Bobby Freeman intercepted a pass from Bobby Layne.

Brown, the league's leading ground gainer, boosted his total yardage to 635 for four games, picking up 153 yards in 19 tries Sunday.

The elusive Mitchell went 108 yards in 13 carries.

Quarterback Bobby Layne, acquired by the Steelers from Detroit two weeks ago—following the 45-12 drubbing the Browns handed the Steelers at Pittsburgh—was unable to move the team against the rocky Browns' defense.

The lone Pittsburgh touchdown—the first score in the game—came on a long, wobbly pass to Ray Mathews from halfback Tom Tracy, who took the ball on a handoff from Layne. It covered 64 yards. The Steelers did not score again until midway in the final quarter, when Tom Miner booted a 47-yard field goal.

Tracy, a workhorse on the Steelers' offense, was carried out of the game early in the fourth quarter after he suffered leg cramps.

The Browns' kicking specialist, Lou Groza, suffered a head injury in the first quarter and was out until the third quarter when he returned to make a 41-yard field goal attempt. The ball struck the upright and bounced outside. A Groza field goal attempt from the Steeler 19 was blocked in the first quarter.

Plum, who kicked two points after touchdown, shared kicking chores with Bob Gain while Groza was out. Gain too was injured in the third quarter shortly before Groza returned to action.

Dr. Vic Ippolito, team physician, believes McCormack suffered cartilage damage. He said he wouldn't know how long McCormack will be out until he sees how the knee responds to treatment.

Brown said he will shift Willie McClung to offensive tackle as a replacement.

'Things' Joins Lonesome End As New Gimmick in Football

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Army's football team has the lonesome end and now Lafayette College, surprise leader of the Middle Atlantic Conference's university division, has the "The Thing."

"We call it 'The Thing' because we don't have a name for it," Jim McConlogue, making his debut this year as head coach at Lafayette, said today.

Pete Stevens, Temple coach, has a name for it, but his version is slightly unprintable. Lafayette used "The Thing" on its first play Saturday and scored a touchdown. Stevens claimed the play disgraced his team, which went down to a 35-0 defeat.

It took a week's practice and some acting talent on the part of the Lafayette players to pull off "The Thing" which went like this:

Bob Howard, Haddonfield, N. J., center, called the huddle five yards to the left of the football instead of the usual distance straight back of the ball. Temple lined up on the ball, as usual. When he broke from the huddle, he pretended he didn't know where the ball was.

Wayne Cipriani, Monessen, Pa., quarterback, sent his team directly to the line of scrimmage. Howard ran to the ball, yelling, "Over here, fellows."

Cipriani also started yelling, shifting backwards as if he were trying to move his team toward the ball. To further confuse matters, end Dan Wooten, Cape May Courthouse, N. J., was lonesome all by himself near the sidelines. He didn't take part in the huddle, a la Bill Carpenter of Army.

Temple players either pointed warningly at lonesome Wooten or gaped at what looked like several Lafayette players losing their minds.

While Cipriani was drifting backwards yelling "Over here," he also called a signal. Howard centered diagonally to halfback Charley Bartos of Phillipsburg, N. J., Bartos, behind four blockers, raced 61 yards unmolested past a stunned Temple defense for a touchdown.

"Howard practiced centering diagonally for a week," chuckled McConlogue, 41, who said he pulled the play several times while coaching football at Central Catholic High School in Allentown, Pa., and at Netcong, N. J. Lafayette won its third straight MAC victory after a loss to Dartmouth.

"We hadn't scored in the first half all season," said McConlogue, a Moravian College graduate. "I thought 'The Thing' might do it. I don't think we could do it again. Strictly a once in a lifetime play."

Syracuse Aiming To Win Cage Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Paul Seymour hopes this is the season of reckoning for his Syracuse Nationals in the Eastern Division race of the National Basketball Assn.

The Nats, who finished third two years ago and were runnerup to the Boston Celtics in the 1957-58 campaign, are aiming to dethrone the Celtics this season. And they're off and running.

The Detroit Pistons and the Nationals inaugurated the season in a nationally televised game in Syracuse Sunday with the Nats winning 193-94.

Flashing a balanced scoring attack, Syracuse bolted to a 22-point half-time lead. When the Pistons rallied after the intermission, the Nats successfully withstood their belated surge.

4-H, Friendly Merchants Floats Gain Top Honors

The 4-H and Friendly Merchants floats swept top honors in this year's Pumpkin Show judging.

The 4-H float, featuring a theme "Around the World", was judged number one in the amateur division. The Friendly Merchants entry, highlighted by a beautiful queen and court, placed first in the industrial class.

First prize amounted to $100 in each class. Winners were announced during Saturday night's final parade.

In the amateur division, the Presbyterian and St. Joseph's Church entries ended in a two-way deadlock for second. The Presbyterian float depicted Jonah and the Whale, complete with moving tail and fins. St. Joseph's featured a scene of prayer.

THIRD place in the amateur class ended in another tie, with the Lutheran Family Circle, Scout

Pack 170 and the Jamestown Garden Club entries taking the honors. The Lutheran float was based on a religious theme and the Jamestown entry was constructed to resemble a beautiful showboat.

The Scout float featured a huge golden bell, complete with a bevy of scouts riding atop the entry. Honorable mention in this division went to UNICEF, Kappa Delta Psi Sorority and Scout Pack 52.

Second place in the industrial class was awarded to the U. S. Army Reserve entry, a float which emphasized national strength through all branches of the reserve.

Third place went to the Sinclair Service entry. This float was highlighted by a replica of the Sinclair Dinosaur which included blinking-light eyes.

LOOK WHAT HAPPENED IN WICHITA

The story of what happened in Wichita is of vital interest to every motorist. Chances are that you will be as shocked at the results as were the people who conducted the test.

Wichita's motorists are typical drivers...not unlike the drivers right here. They had become so used to superior tire performance that they were lulled into a false sense of security...or in an attempt to squeeze the last mile of life from their tires, many drivers were subjecting themselves and all other motorists to extreme danger.

WICHITA, KANSAS. During September a tire-safety check was conducted. It was the most exhaustive check of this nature ever made. Wichita was chosen for the test because it offered a traffic-saturated metropolitan area combined with high-speed turnpike traffic.

The results of the check astounded the safety experts. It showed that four out of ten autos have bad tires! For the first time in the history of highway safety research, they were able to positively document the fact that unsafe tires are a critical factor in highway safety.

The safety check also produced evidence that failure to keep car wheels aligned is a contributing factor to unsafe tire wear.

The Wichita tire-safety check was hailed as the "most worthwhile study of its kind" ever conducted.

Wrecked Auto Said Ransacked

4-H, Friendly Merchants Floats Gain Top Honors

The 4-H and Friendly Merchants floats swept top honors in this year's Pumpkin Show judging.

The 4-H float, featuring a theme "Around the World", was judged number one in the amateur division. The Friendly Merchants entry, highlighted by a beautiful queen and court, placed first in the industrial class.

First prize amounted to $100 in each class. Winners were announced during Saturday night's final parade.

In the amateur division, the Presbyterian and St. Joseph's Church entries ended in a two-way deadlock for second. The Presbyterian float depicted Jonah and the Whale, complete with moving tail and fins. St. Joseph's featured a scene of prayer.

THIRD place in the amateur class ended in another tie, with the Lutheran Family Circle, Scout

Pack 170 and the Jamestown Garden Club entries taking the honors. The Lutheran float was based on a religious theme and the Jamestown entry was constructed to resemble a beautiful showboat. The Scout float featured a huge golden bell, complete with a bevy of scouts riding atop the entry. Honorable mention in this division went to UNICEF, Kappa Delta Psi Sorority and Scout Pack 52.

Second place in the industrial class was awarded to the U. S. Army Reserve entry, a float which emphasized national strength through all branches of the reserve.

Third place went to the Sinclair Service entry. This float was highlighted by a replica of the Sinclair Dinosaurs which included blinking light eyes.
